TODAY'S VERSE

Jeremiah 33:3 Call unto me. and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.

FACES of HAMILTON COUNTY

What makes Brynna "Brynn" Faye Eaton smile? "Spending time with friends and family," said the Noblesville High School 2020 graduate, a Horseshoe Prairie Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution 2020 Citizen of the Year finalist representing her school. Today's feature is a look back at one of The Times' previous Faces of Hamilton County.

The 19-year-old is the daughter of Christian and Deborah Eaton. What is she most proud of in her life? "My involvement in Key Club (with 50+ hours of annual volunteering) has really made a big impact on me. I had the opportunity to be president and was also on the leadership team. I just met a lot of really cool people through that and took on a lot of responsibility with organizing events ... It's just been really cool." She ran cross country and was team captain her senior season, ran track, was on the leadership team of CRU, formerly known as Campus Crusade for Christ, and was ecretary of NHS National Honor Society. She was a peer CELL leader, a member of Interact Club through which she attended the Rotary Youth Leadership Awards conference, and was on the school's mental health community outreach board. Her senior year, she joined with two classmates in an engineering project to improve the walking canes of a student with a physical disability. Eaton's plans are to study engineering with a biomedical concentration at Baylor University in Waco, Texas, and wants to become a biomedical engineer. She completed 10 years of 4-H and enjoys water sports, running, bicycling, and swimming. Why it's important to her to be a good citizen. "...We're the future of the country. We're going to be the next leaders ... I think it's really important to preserve the foundations of the country." Her inspiration? "My parents," said Eaton. "They're really patriotic and have a lot of respect for our country. They raised that in me, too. We need to preserve our nation and what it was founded on."

WEEK in REVIEW

With the first full month of the year behind us, it has certainly been a lively start to 2022! Lots of things are happening all over the city and the county, so it can be easy to fall out of the loop. We at the Times pride ourselves on keeping you, our readers, informed, so here is a rundown of the five biggest stories from the past week.

Hamilton County lays right in the tracks of a major incoming winter storm.

AccuWeather meteorologists are tracking the makings of a far-reaching, disruptive winter storm which is forecast to spread a plowable snow and significant icing from the central and southern Rockies to parts of the Northeast this week. Denver, Dallas and Detroit are among the major metro areas expected to face wintry consequences and potential travel trouble, forecasters say.

Depending on the exact track of the storm, an extended zone of icing may develop from central Texas extending through the Ohio Valley. Areas like Dallas, Little Rock, and Indianapolis could be under a significant ice threat around the middle of this week," AccuWeather Meteorologist Joe Bauer said.

Noblesville Police Chief John Mann is proud to announce that Lt. Jason Thompson has been appointed to the rank of Deputy Chief of the Support Division.

Frank and Katrina Basile's donation of $100,000 was given to Main Street Productions Inc., which, in turn, renamed its Westfield Playhouse to Basile Westfield Playhouse. (The Times published the press release last week.)

The Basiles' donation came free and clear with no stipulations on how the money is to be spent. And there are no perks in the contracts, such as free tickets.

In 1900 another Noblesville resident who'd been a slave, Lucy Washington, achieved a small measure of fame when various Indiana newspapers noted she was possibly the oldest

Dennis Lee Warner

Sep. 1, 1961 - Jan. 27, 2022

Dennis Lee Warner, 60, of Noblesville, went to be with the Lord on Thu., Jan. 27, 2022 at St. Vincent Hospital in Carmel.

He was born on Sep. 1, 1961 in Noblesville, Ind., to Max Warner and Judy Reed.

On June 30, 1983, he married the love of his life, Ethel (Kelley) Warner.

Mr. Warner had a laugh that was contagious and a smile that lit up the entire room. Being a husband, father, and pappy is what made his smile shine so bright. He had room in his heart for everyone and opened the door to his home to all. He was a storyteller extraordinaire and kids always gathered around to hear his next tale. He was always up for an adventure whether it was hiking, exploring caves, playing golf, taking his grandsons to car shows, or even just laying on the floor playing dolls with his granddaughter. He didn't care what he was doing, what made him happy was making his family smile. He had a way of making everyone around him feel needed and had a gift of being able to relate with everyone, young and old.

Most important to Mr. Warner was his spot at Calvary Apostolic Church where he faithfully attended for 43 years. He was a prayer warrior, mentor, and father/pappy to the entire church family.

Survivors include his wife; sons Dennis (Marissa) Warner, Derick (Hannah) Warner and Dustin (Audrey) Warner; 7 grandchildren Clark, Jude, Finley, Evin, Atlas, Beckham and Declan. He also had a grandson, Levi, due to arrive in April. In addition, he had three special grandkids he loved very much: Lorenzo, Mia and Julian Rodriguez.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his brother, David Warner; and his sister Laura Warner.

Visitation will be from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Mon., Feb. 7, 2022 at Randall & Roberts Funeral Home, 1150 Logan Street in Noblesville. A celebration of life will be held at 11 a.m. on Tue., Feb. 8, 2022 at Calvary Apostolic Church, 16400 Cumberland Road in Noblesville with Pastor Bryan Tanton officiating.

didn't have any connections to Westfield Playhouse before hearing about their needs, they felt compelled to give.

"Our first love is the theater," Frank Basile, 82, said. "We are proud to be associated with Main Street Productions," which presents plays and musicals at the newly constructed Playhouse that opened in 2020 on Union Street in downtown Westfield after moving from an old churchturned-theater in nearby Eagletown.

"Katrina and I appreciate the opportunity to use some of our resources for a mission that resonates with us, including the building, and the board and the types of plays they present," Basile said.

Basile hasn't attended any shows but will be doing so starting with the production, "Of Mice and Men," which opens on Feb. 10.

He especially enjoys assisting smaller theaters in providing quality arts options for local residents.

"The successful 30llyearll old Main Street Productions, with its beautiful new building in the city of Westfield, provided the perfect opportunity to use our resources for a cause we believe in, and we are very grateful for that opportunity," he said.

Basile sees giving, indeed, as an opportunity.

He was about 45 years old when he made his first major donation, which was at the Indianapolis Art Center, followed by the Phoenix Theatre.

Basile Westfield Playhouse is the 10th venue that bears his last name. The Basile namesakes are all related to theaters or performing arts centers and include Frank and Katrina Basile Stage at Phoenix Theatre, Frank M. Basile Auditorium at Indianapolis Art Center, Frank and Katrina Basile Auditorium at Herron School of Art, Frank and Katrina Basile Opera Center at Indianapolis Opera, IndyFringe Basile Theater at IndyFringe, Heartland Basile Theatre in Heartland Film's office in Fountain Square, The Basile at the Historic Athenaeum and The Fonseca Theater in the Basile Building. (Frank Basile provided this list of Indianapolis theaters.)

He said he has been fortunate to be able to help all of these groups using his donations.

Basile, whose primary source of income for 33 years was his compensation as vice president of property management for the Gene B. Glick Co., where he was responsible for the company's 21,000 apartments in 21 states, said, "I was also given the opportunity to invest in some of the company's limited partnerships, which have been highly successful."

He said, "I saved as much as I could through the years and made wise investments in the stock market."

Basile doesn't come from money. He was born and raised in New Orleans, and his parents were "relatively poor financially," he said.

"I would imagine having money to do all the things my five sisters and I couldn't, like attending arts and cultural events, though I only had a vague idea of what those were," he told an audience in a Spirit & Place essay that he was asked to write and present. Since he took no family trips or vacations, with the exception of visiting nearby relatives, he said, "I imagined traveling to far-off lands, like New York and China."

As a boy, his job was to watch his dad's fruit stand. "Since there weren't a lot of customers, I relied on my imagination for entertainment. Little did I know that these daydreams, as my mother called them, would take seed," he said in his essay.

"Through the years, I gradually accomplished or became much of what I had imagined I enjoyed the challenges that came with having to make things happen for myself and the resulting self-confidence and feeling of accomplishment."

Meeting challenges help in his personal growth. "Those who don't fend for themselves frequently miss out on the struggle and the thrill of overcoming," he told his audiences.

Basile recalled being told by his Catholic high school principal that his tuition was overdue and then learned from his sobbing mother that his dad had gambled away the tuition money she had given him to take to the school on his way to the market.

He drove an old pickup truck to the farmer's market near the French Quarter, he said, got a load of watermelons from a farmer on consignment and sold every one of them on the side of the road at his uncle's farm just outside of New Orleans. He paid his tuition the next day.

"That was not only a thrilling accomplishment, but the beginning of the realization that I was the master of my fate," he said. The only way to overcome something he feared was to do it.

Plus, he wanted to be able to live comfortably and enjoy experiences, like travel while having enough money left over to help other people.

Achieving his dreams required focus, determination and drive.

A businessman -- who also wears the hats of certified speaking professional, author, columnist, community volunteer, philanthropist, retired property management executive and world traveler of more than 190 countries on all seven continents -- he often recites his favorite poem, "New Day."

He also quotes Winston Churchill's "We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give."

He once said at a fundraiser, "rather than being thanked for his donation, he believes that donors should be thanking fundraisers for the opportunity presented to spend his time and resources."

Basile said, "After you've made a certain amount of money, what do you do with it? "

He went to work when he was transferred from Detroit to Indianapolis by Ford Motor Co. (He had a parting of the ways with Ford.) Same time, he was getting a divorce. He noticed the apartments were poorly managed. He had to find another job. His job was to ask the manager who trains her. He thought maybe this was an opportunity in an industry where, he said, "I could make a difference." Basile, after finding out who owned the most apartments, wrote a letter to Gene Glick.

He met his wife, Katrina, in 1998 at the old Capri restaurant, and they were married shortly after the devastating Hurricane Katrina. Living on Indy's northside gives them easy access to downtown Indy as well as the northern suburbs, like Carmel, Noblesville and Westfield, "which is important to us since we frequently attend events in those areas," she said. And sometimes, they have dinner at Pebblebrook Golf Club, "where Dave Lowe plays the piano and sings and we dance."

Basile originally learned about Westfield Playhouse's needs from Joel Kirk, a mutual friend of Playhouse builder Paul Estridge during the Playhouse's capital campaign.

"When he (Basile) learned of our needs for items that we were looking for, interior finishes on the stage and the auditorium, he asked for a tour of the facility," said Bill Miller, the Playhouse's vice president of business. "He met with a couple of our board members and toured the Playhouse."

Basile researched the Playhouse's past couple of seasons, board and history with the community. He then made an offer of a Playhouse donation, which the board granted Miller the rights and privilege to negotiate and discuss with Basile.

Basile said the charities to which he donates are small organizations. He said, "They have to be small enough where we can make a difference."

Thompson replaces Shane Ginnan, who is now the Town Marshal of York-

"In the system we have etup here with staff, we're really six working as one (police chief, assistant chief and four deputy chiefs). It is a true team effort, said Mann. "Jason has the right chemistry, which he's built up over his 17 years in the department, to be a perfect fit within our team approach. We needed someone who could step into this role that still has that servant leadership mentality. Jason is a great fit for that. We are excited, not only for Jason in his new position, but for the future of the Noblesville Police Department."

Westfield Playhouse becomes "Basile Westfield Playhouse"

Main Street Productions, Inc., Westfield's own community theatre company, has received a sizeable donation to our capital and operating fund from Frank and Katrina Basile. In honor of this donation, Main Street Productions has named our home, "Basile Westfield Playhouse."

MSP will be adding the name to the facade of the building and are honored to be continuing to produce quality theatre and community involvement in the new Basile Westfield Playhouse.

Bill Miller, Vice President of Main Street Productions, Inc., said, "It was a joy to work with Mr. Basile on this donation. He believes strongly in our mission and wanted to help us take our theater to the next level. In the coming several months you will see new improvements to our home to enhance your experience while at our playhouse." Brandi Davis, President of Main Street Productions, Inc., stated, "The donation from Frank and Katrina Basile will help guarantee that we will continue to be able to produce the high quality entertainment that Westfield has come to expect from MSP."

stated that she was 122 years old. (I doubt she managed to age from 110 to 122 in a single year.)

The longest and, I believe, most accurate account of her life ran in the May 18, 1900, Hamilton County Ledger. It's a fascinating story.

Her original owner was a wealthy Virginian from the Richmond area named William Mayo. She appears to have been passed on to the Dade family at a fairly young age, however, possibly when Mayo's daughter, Anne, married General Lawrence Taliaferro Dade.

At some point she married and had two girls, but I found very little about her family. She became separated from her husband while still a young woman and she never saw him again. The daughters both died long before she did.

Sometime prior to the Civil War, the Dades (or whoever owned her then) moved from Virginia to Kentucky and she was taken along. She said she was made to cover the entire distance on foot, despite being "well advanced in years.

Around 1870, she went to live with her granddaughter, Mary Bassett, and Mary's husband, Reverend Miles Bassett.

The family moved to Noblesville's Federal Hill area around 1895 when Reverend Bassett came here to preach in the First Baptist Church.

The Ledger noted that several historic events Mrs. Washington witnessed during her lifetime tended to reinforce the case for her being 110 in 1900.

For one thing, she was present when the Richmond Theatre in Richmond, Virginia, burned on December 26, 1811, a tragedy in which 72 people died.

When the British threatened to take Richmond during the War of 1812, she helped the family she was serving (possibly the Dades) pack up their household goods and escape up the James River.

According to the Ledger article, she nursed a relative of her master in President James Madison's home. Although no time frame was given, I'm guessing that master may have been General Dade because Dade knew Madison well. Apparently, Mrs.

Washington knew Madison fairly well, too. She mentioned that he had three brothers, one of whom she described as a "habitual drunkard."

She also recalled seeing the Marquis de Lafayette during his 1824-1825 tour of the United States.

The Ledger observed in 1900 that $\check{M}rs$. Washington was in good health for her age, pointing out that she'd never used any form of tobacco and that she had her 'second eyesight" which allowed her to sew without needing glasses. (For some inexplicable reason the article also included the fact she never wore a corset except for the night she was married!)

Sadly, a little over a year after the Ledger story ran, she fell down a stairway while carrying a basket of clothes (or a basin of water, depending on the source.)

She never really recovered from her injuries and died a couple of months later.

By the way, Mrs. Washington can claim another distinction — she was the great-great grandmother of noted African American author and lawyer, Cyrus Colter
