What makes Les Reinhardt smile? "The creative arts," said the 41-year-old Fishers resident. She is executive director of Fishers Arts Council and operations manager for Nickel Plate Arts in Noblesville. She joined the Fishers Arts Council board in 2018 as treasurer; it's been an all-volunteer group since 2005. "We made a vote at the end of 2020 to have an executive director position for five (paid) hours a week. Because of the amount of volunteer time I was putting in, they voted to have me be in that position." At Nickel Plate Arts, where she works 20 hours per week, she facilitates all gallery spaces in Noblesville, and also in Fishers, at Meyer Najem (Construction) Gallery, Four Day Ray Brewing and a nonprofit wing of Hub & Spoke community center. She was born and raised in Indianapolis and graduated from Lawrence Central High School. "I wanted to be an accountant, but then I landed on stage in production management." After graduating from Ball State University with a degree in theater technology and design major, she lived in California for 15 years and worked in the arts there, in music, dance and theater. She is a member of Actors Equity Association and is a Union Stage Manager. She has been married for 19 years and has a 9-year-old son. "We moved to Hamilton County (when her son was 5) because of the schools." She has been a virtual worker since 2017. She manages Fishers Arts Council's social media, website, events and does grant writing. For Nickel Plate Arts, she manages gallery space and keeps the calendar going. Hobbies? "Supporting the arts ... I take my work and make it my passion." In her free time? "I play video games with my son." She was found in summer 2021, managing the Fishers Arts Council's artist reception for Hamilton County Artists' Association and Craig Ogden artwork at Fishers City Hall. The current Nickel Plate Art March exhibit is Noblesville Schools' Young Artists work, which had a public reception on Wednesday, and continues through end of March during Nickel Plate hours.

And these are just a few of the things that make him smile.

Add the fact that he has "a job in news."

And he's taken a liking to some downtown Noblesville eateries.

"I could go on for a long time about what makes me smile," said the curly, red-haired, bearded journalist who folks may have already seen strolling around the Courthouse Square taking in all that's new.

What else makes him smile? LaRue said, "Mostly, it's the small things in life where I'm

Robert Ellis Frash June 23, 1930 - March 4, 2022

Robert Ellis Frash, passed away on March 4, 2022 at his home in Palm City, Florida.

He was born on June 23, 1930, the cherished son of Elizabeth Hyre and George William Frash.

Mr. Frash was an astounding person who embodied much of what is best about the world and, more pointedly, the country of his birth, the United States of America. Most knew him as "Bob," which is curious because it is a rather ordinary name for such a truly extraordinary person. Born on June 23, 1930, he grew up during the Great Depression, in the most modest of circumstances, on the farmlands surrounding Churubusco, Ind. During frigid winters, he used an outhouse, walked miles to school, and had to put a heated brick by his feet at night to get to sleep. In spite of that, Mr. Frash treasured his upbringing. He often said that difficulties of childhood taught him the tenacity that later leveraged his success. In fact, it was perhaps because of his harsh upbringing that he became determined to move beyond the boundaries of his smalltown and attain prominence. After playing basketball in a high school, he joined the Air National Guard during the Korean War. There he quickly rose to the rank of Master Sargent and ran the motor pool at Baer Field, in Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. Frash was always proud to serve his country during a time of war and was active in the VFW and American Legion throughout his life. It was after leaving the Air National Guard that he began to build a vast network of businesses and real estate holdings. Mr. Frash, who was ever the quintessential entrepreneur, built his first construction company from one Caterpillar D2 bulldozer to a fleet of more than 150 pieces of heavy construction equipment. When asked what was most central to his business success, he replied that "he always kept his word."

However, Mr. Frash was not only passionate about his business dealings. His was raised to understand the primary importance of family. Principal family figures were his mom and dad, but his aunt, Juva, his mother's only sister, was also a prominent force throughout Mr. Frash's life. Juva Marsden served as his counsel, cheerleader, matriarch, and an eternal ray of sunshine especially during troubled times. One could not overstate the admiration and gratitude he felt for his Aunt Juva. He often referred to her as a saint.

Over a span of nearly two decades, Mr. Frash had five children: Pam, Bob Jr., Frank, Robin and Juva. Although his children were raised in two different states, he always did his best be an ever present figure in their lives and instill the value of family in all. Tragically, Mr. Frash lost his second son, Frank, in 1986. Although, he was forever burdened this loss, he stoically never lost sight of his duty and love to his surviving children. He had a special bond with each of them and played a pivotal role into their adulthood and parenthood of their own.

In 1985, while on vacation, he met Marie Driscoll, in Santa Domingo, in the Dominican Republic. It was a fairytale romance - they met in February and were married in November. Not too long after they were married, Mr. Frash and his wife retired to Florida in 1993. Not surprisingly, he did not adapt well to retirement. Just two-years later he and Marie were back in Indiana running a landfill on the north-side of Indianapolis. Together, they built upon their success and purchased another much larger venture, in Noblesville, Ind. Remarkably, through their industriousness, and the goal of revitalizing largely untenable land, both landfills have been repurposed into thriving industrial complexes. The Frashes were married for 37 years, during which time they not only built a substantive business empire but were best friends who never lost sight of their love for one another-sharing in numerous adventures, while traveling the world. They especially enjoyed ocean cruising and visited every continent in the world but Antarctica. No memory of Mr. Frash would be complete without mention of his innate lust for life. Throughout his life, he participated in many different activities. Growing up he farmed, hunted, rode horses, sold lake ice, and ran a roller-skating rink. He was an avid boater and water-skier through much of the first half of his life. At an early age, he was a member of the Hamilton Lake Ski Club, where he helped host numerous annual waterski shows. Mr. Frash's waterski accomplishments include induction into the 100-Foot waterski jump club, aerial waterski kite flying, barefoot waterskiing, and much more. He visited Cypress Gardens nearly every year and became good friends and waterski mates with the famous Jimmy "Fly" Jackson. He spent many winters vacationing in Michigan where he rode and raced snowmobiles. He later began snow skiing and won a Gold Medal in Snowmass, CO. Mr. Frash also played tennis whenever time allow. He hunted, often on horseback in remote regions of the Rocky Mountains. Mr. Frash was a farmer, mechanic, military leader, skilled heavy equipment operator, capable civil engineer, loving husband and patriarch, avid sportsman and so much more. He excelled at everything he did. His drive and determination for success, in any and all endeavors, was dogged and astonishing. He was benevolent to his fellow man and will be dearly missed by many. Survivors include his wife, Marie; children Pam Frash, Robert (Kenda Sweet) Frash Jr., Robin Shaul and Juva Zimmerman; 8 grandchildren; and 8 great-grandchildren. In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his son, Frank Frash; brother, William Frash; aunt, Juva Marsden; and 1 grandson, Tim Bricker. RIX QUINN

At a family reunion, I went outside to play catch with a cousin.

"I'd rate your baseball skills below average," he said. "Does that surprise you?"

That didn't shock me one bit. I score below average in most sports, with the exception of "spitting for distance.'

Coaches generally took one glace at me, then decided I was not a leader. My natural facial expression is "confused." And when I concentrate, I look positively disoriented.

In school, I attempted all the standard games. But I was too skinny for football, and in basketball my vertical leap was only three inches. Could baseball be my specialty?

Our neighbor coached a kids' team, and invited me to join. I practiced fielding flies and grounders, and could soon catch close to hitter, but the coach had a plan. "When you get to the batter's box, crouch down like a serious hitter. But never, ever take the bat off your shoulder."

In one year, I was called out on strikes 20 times, but got walked 38 times. Once on first base, I could generally navigate the other bases without wandering into the outfield or tripping over the shortstop.

That was a happy year. I got on base, scored a lot, bragged constantly about it, and thereby earned the nickname "Walkie Talkie."

Today, over 40 years later, I still boast about the time I won the league's title for most bases on balls. And when friends ask how I earned so many walks, I modestly say, "Pitchers respected me.'

Protect Yourself Against This Scam:

• Call customer service. If you feel pressured for immediate action by a caller, hang up the phone and call the customer service number on your utility bill. This will ensure you are speaking to a real representative. Never give your personal or banking information to an unverified or unsolicited caller.

• Never allow anyone into your home unless you have scheduled an appointment or reported a problem. Also, ask utility employees for proper identification before letting them enter.

BBB Scam Alert: Utility Impostor Scam The Libertarian Party of Indiana Nominates Candidates for 2022

The Libertarian Party of Indiana (LPIN) held its annual state convention this weekend at the Forum Event Center in Fishers, IN. Over 175 Libertarians gathered for the convention, including 131 delegates selected from 48 local county parties, to set the direction of the state party and to nominate Libertarian candidates for the 2022 election.

The annual convention kicked off Friday Night with a social event and a debate between Libertarian US Senate candidates William Henry (Elkhart) and James Sceniak (Johnson). Both candidates debated each other well and professionally. The two men articulated their approaches to the policy issues of today and engaged with the nearly 80 delegates and members of the public in attendance

On Saturday at the start of the convention, LPIN Chair Evan McMahon awarded Certificates of Affiliation to members from local county parties that were formed since the 2021 state convention, including Monroe, Hendricks, Owen, and Jackson counties.

LPIN membership then nominated candidates for the 2022 election for US Senate, Secretary of State, State Auditor, three Congressional districts, and multiple State House seats. In the contested race for the US Senate seat, the delegates selected James Sceniak as the Libertarian candidate for United States Senator.

"I'm honored by this nomination, and I look forward to bringing a fresh, modern approach to Washington, D.C.!" Sceniak exclaimed from the main stage after receiving the party's nomination.

McMahon then said, "Unlike the other parties, Libertarians both welcome and encourage competition in contested races. These two gentlemen have spent the past year campaigning for this nomination and they have done it with professionalism and class. They have made each other and their campaigns stronger for it. Thank you both for being great examples of Libertarians."

In a show of unity, more than a dozen delegates, including former state chairs and 2020 Libertarian gubernatorial candidate Donald Rainwater, rose to nominate Jeffrey Maurer (Hamilton) for Secretary of State. Maurer was unable to attend the convention, due to his active military service, but accepted the nomination in a pre-recorded video message. Maurer will return from active military service in a few weeks and immediately hit the campaign trail as the Libertarian candidate for Secretary of State.

The LPIN delegates also nominated John Schick (Porter) for State Auditor, Gavin Maple (Marion) for 7th Congressional District, Andrew Horning (Owen) for 8th Congressional District, Tonya Millis (Lawrence) for 9th Congressional District, Josh Vergiels (Kosciusko) for State House district 22, Morgan Rigg (DeKalb) for State House District 52, Jada Burton (Vanderburg) for State House district 78, and others who are completing their paperwork.

The Libertarian Party of Indiana will continue to recruit, vet, and nominate candidates over the next months.

After the close of the business meeting, LPIN members were recognized for the hard work and dedication during the annual awards banquet. At which this year's keynote speaker was 2020 Libertarian Presidential candidate, Dr. Jo Jorgensen. Dr. Jorgensen recapped and reported on her campaign and highlighted Indiana's growth and strength as a Libertarian stronghold. Including a national heat map of her 2020 votes by county.

Basketball Coach Larry Hobbs'
Grandsons Coming to SheridanSheridan Historical Society Hosting
Classes About the U.S. Constitution videos with group dis-Former Sheridanvideos with group dis-

Mark your calendar for Saturday, March 5 to visit with John and Jeff Hobbs, grandsons of Sheridan's renowned basketball coach of the 1950's, Larry Hobbs. John is the son of coach Hobbs' younger son Joe, and Jeff is the son of older son Harry. Joe and Harry, of course, both played for their father when they were students here at Sheridan in the 1950's.

The Sheridan Historical Society will be hosting an open house at the museum from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. for community members to come and meet Joe and Jeff. The grandsons want to hear stories about their grandfather and are looking forward to meeting his former players as well as students and listening to their stories. Lest it be forgotten, in addition to being a great coach, Larry Hobbs was also the school principal for years so there are plenty of non-athletic stories to be told, too. They want to hear all your tales about Grandpa Larry.

Both grandsons are interested in what the Sheridan Historical Society has done to honor the era their grandfather coached here, and they are looking forward to meeting as many of the players, cheerleaders, and students as possible and hearing lots of stories. Jeff and Joe will arrive at the Society's Museum at 315 South Main Street in Sheridan at 10 a.m. Refreshments and snacks will be available throughout and we hope to be finished by 2 p.m.

The Sheridan Historical Society hopes everyone with a connection to Larry Hobbs will plan to attend and share your story with Jeff and Joe. Thanks to help and donations from the Hobbs era players and cheerleaders, the Historical Society has put together a great exhibit as a salute to the Hobbs Era teams, so if you have not seen it yet, you are in for a real treat. The Sheridan Historical Society hopes you will come and share this experience with them.

resident John Holmes is starting a new Constitution Course at the Sheridan Historical Society Museum beginning Wednesday, March 2, at 6 p.m. This will be the first of eight weekly sessions being taught on consecutive Wednesday evenings. You are invited to attend and see if it is of interest to you.

This is a series of professionally produced videos with group discussion sessions geared to current relevant topics. Five of this program series have been taught over the past several months and participants report they have learned much about their Constitutional rights and the government's responsibilities as intended by our founding fathers.

It is a fast-paced, educational, inspirational, apolitical course you will enjoy. It is free to attend and there is also an optional workbook you can purchase for $20 if desired. Each session is stand alone in content, so if you can't attend all the sessions, you will not get lost and fall behind.

Please come and check it out on Wednesday, March 2 at 6:00 pm at the Museum located at 315 South Main Street in beautiful uptown Sheridan.

another time," he said.)

He has two siblings, an older brother, Zach, in Columbus, Ohio, and younger sister, Katie, a high school junior. His parents, both born and raised in Indiana and attended college here, still live where their son grew up.

From there, he attended Wabash College (in Crawfordsville), where he was secretary for Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was in the student senate and graduated in 2021.

While he wasn't a journalism major, he was a double major in English and Rhetoric. So that means he probably has better grammar than most of us.

After graduating, he took up waiting tables to make some money.

"I had a lot of odd jobs while I was in school, from working in kitchens to being a college newspaper delivery boy to being a summer camp counselor in northeastern Pennsylvania," he said.

"But the one job I loved was working for one of the local papers in Crawfordsville in the summer of 2019," LaRue said. That was The Paper of Montgomery County, owned by Sagamore News Media, parent company of The Times. "That's how L met Tim

"That's how I met Tim Timmons, our publisher, and also a big part of how I likely got this job," he said.

"News has always been my No. 1 interest," LaRue said. "I love being able to speak knowledgeably and at length about current events, so I've been a newshound since I was in high school (writing for his school magazine) and that's always dominated my time and attention."

So what's his job duties at The Times?

"I'm the managing editor here, which generally means my job is to get The Times assembled and published each day, but my and Tim's goals are to actually diversify a lot of our content and grow The Times' presence in Hamilton County," he said.

"Stay tuned for stuff coming soon," he said.

LaRue loves writing news. "Working in news is all I've ever wanted to do," he said. But being that he's assembling the newspaper each day, he said, "I haven't gotten to write much. I only started about a month and a half ago, but my main goal is to write stories that keep people informed about their community, about what's going on around them that affects their lives, and about things that are interesting to Hamilton County residents."

Why does he like journalism so much? "It's actually quite straightforward. The three things I've always done best are writing, telling stories and minding other people's business." (So true. Journalists are always interested in other people's lives, and they have the license, and courage, to ask just about any question.) "I think that trifects of

"I think that trifecta of skills makes me uniquely suited to work in news," he said.

"I've got a couple of favorite stories, but one that takes the prize for me is when I wrote about a farmer in Montgomery County who was one of the first farmers in Indiana to get licensed to grow hemp. It was 2019, a brutally hot summer, and crops all around Indiana were struggling, and this farmer had gotten this license because Indiana was uniquely suited environmentally to grow hemp. He hoped to help farmers around the state diversify their crop and keep their farms, so it was really cool to be able to bear witness to the genesis of his efforts and share them with other people."

Has he met or interviewed any celebrities? "As for famous people, I can't say I've interviewed too many, mostly mayors and council members," LaRue said. "I did once get to meet and speak to (British-American novelist) Salman Rushdie and ask him some questions, but that was for school. Still, pretty insane to stand there next to him." LaRue is already a "huge fan" of Noblesville and Hamilton County, which he said the county has similarities to back home.

"I don't know the city very well yet, except that, like the rest of Indiana, there is construction absolutely everywhere, but I am trying my hardest to frequent local businesses ... so that I can really appreciate and understand this place. I love it so far, though. Everyone has been so polite and welcoming."

What does he like to do outside of work? "You can find me playing video games, writing fiction stories, skateboarding or playing pool and running my mouth at Average Joe's," he said.

But so far, he said, "The only activity I've really managed to do is work, although I imagine as it warms up, I'll be spending evenings wandering the Square and Federal Hill Commons, finding ways to entertain myself and meet locals."

His favorite spot in town, so far, is Rosie's Place, not only because he likes the food but because he thinks the orange juice has just the right amount of pulp and The Times office is about 15 feet from the eatery's front door. He thanks Noblesville Schools spokesperson Marnie Cooke for showing him there.

LaRue said, "If you see me walking around the Square in Noblesville

... or anywhere, come up and introduce yourself. I've only met good and decent people since moving here, and I'd love to continue to meet more."

He said, "My red hair, my beard and my purple coat are pretty much impossible to miss, although I suspect the coat is going into the closet soon ... All that being said, I'm just excited to be a part of the community and to have a role in making it a better, or at least better informed, place. Cheers!"

"Cheers" to you Joe LaRue and welcome!

Independence Science Receives NSF Grant To Develop Braille Device

An educational technology company in Purdue Research Park has received a grant from the National Science Foundation to create a more inclusive laboratory experience for blind and deaf-blind students to prepare them for careers in STEM fields.

Independence Science has received a one-year, $254,767 Phase I grant from the National Science Foundation to develop Sci-Dot, a multiline Braille device that collects and analyzes scientific data. Ashley Nashleanas will serve as primary investigator on the project.

Greg Williams of Independence Science said blind and deaf-blind students are put at a disadvantage if they are not able to view and analyze graphic representations of data in real time and at the same time as their sighted classmates. He also said being solely reliant upon audio output of data in a laboratory setting can be hazardous if surroundings are too loud. Audio output also is entirely inaccessible to deaf-blind students.

"Sci-Dot addresses these issues and improves upon current Braille displays that consist of only a single line of cells, which creates limitations in looking at data tables, monitoring data as it is collected and viewing graphical representations of the data," Williams said. "Our multiline Braille device will allow blind and deafblind users to set up and collect experimental data independently and examine it graphically in real time along with their sighted peers."

Independence Science will partner with Vernier Software & Technology, EQware, ViewPlus Technologies and Tactile Engineering, a startup based in Lafayette, Indiana, to making the next great leap in STEM accessibility for blind students with the goal of inspiring the next and, hopefully, much larger generation of blind scientists."

Independence Science has also received $50,000 from the Indiana Economic Development Corporation and Elevate Ventures to develop Sci-Dot.

About Independence Science

Independence Science is an access technology pioneer dedicated to changing how blind people view their own capabilities about pursuing scientific careers as well as helping to educate the sighted scientific community that blind persons can make significant contributions to the STEM fields. Where before blind students and scientists had only human sighted assistants available to them, Independence Science is helping the blind reclaim their laboratory independence. Through real inclusion and access to scientific laboratories, Independence Science is evolving the way society views science accessibility and helping blind students and scientists become more successful and equal participants within the scientific community. Franciscan Health now offers two locations for families to purchase up to 40 ounces of pasteurized donor human milk without a prescription. One is at Franciscan Health Center for Women & Children in Lafayette for patients who have delivered and are in the hospital. The other location at Franciscan Community Education is open to the public.

"This opportunity to be a milk distribution site is an excellent extension of our inpatient and outpatient lactation services," said Jacinta Langley, RN, an international board-certified lactation consultant. "We are proud to collaborate with The Milk Bank on this project and help promote successful breastfeeding to our patients and our community."

FROM THE MILK BANK

The Milk Bank – the only program of its kind in Indiana – receives milk from carefully screened, healthy donors and distributes it to babies in neonatal intensive care units or to families with infants who desire to supplement with human milk. Donor milk offers optimal nutrition, improved digestibility and added immunologic protection against infections.

"As a recognized leader and strong advocate for infant and maternal health, The Milk Bank and Franciscan Health are natural community partners," said The Milk Bank's executive director, Freedom Kolb. "By opening a donor milk express site, Franciscan Health is making a remarkable commitment to combatting infant mortal-

We are excited to have the opportunity to be able to provide families access to donor milk when it is most needed," said Marcia Cherry, director of Center for Women & Children. "Breast milk is the gold standard for babies, but sometimes mothers are unable to provide their own breast milk for their baby. Having a Donor Milk Express in the hospital aligns with our commitment to the safe implementation

IDOI Announces PCF Surcharge Rates Will Not Increase In 2022-2023

On February 22, 2022, Indiana Department of Insurance (IDOI) Commissioner Amy L. Beard issued Bulletin 263 outlining the 2022-2023 annual surcharge rates for healthcare providers to pay into the Indiana Patient's Compensation Fund (PCF) to be qualified under Indiana's Medical Malpractice Act.

For physicians and hospitals, the overall surcharge will not change from the current rates. The surcharge rates are effective for coverage beginning July 1, 2022.

The PCF is a dedicated fund administered by the IDOI as a component of the Indiana Medical Malpractice Act. It provides excess payments of damages to patients who have experienced medical malpractice and excess medical professional liability coverage to participating healthcare providers in Indiana. The PCF is funded by a surcharge paid as part of a health care provider's liability insurance premium.

For more information about surcharge calculations, you can find the complete Bulletin 263 on the Indiana Department of Insurance website at www.in.gov/idoi on the Insurance Laws, Rules & Bulletins page.

On My Way Pre-K Applications For 2022-2023 Are Now Available

Indiana's Office of Early Childhood and Out-of-School Learning is now accepting applications from families statewide who may be eligible for grants for their children to receive free, high-quality, pre-kindergarten education through the On My Way Pre-K program for the 2022-2023 school vear. Information about the program and the link to apply can be found at OnMyWayPreK.org.

"We are always happy to enroll new students in On My Way Pre-K, but this year is especially exciting since we recently released results of a Purdue University longterm study showing that children who attend On My Way Pre-K are better prepared for school and that the benefits continue well into elementary school," said Nicole Norvell, director of FSSA's Office of Early Childhood and Out-of-School Learning. "We are eager to enroll a new group of young Hoosiers to benefit from the great early start this program provides for their learning." For the 2022-2023 school year, a child is eligible for an On My Way Pre-K voucher if they will be 4 years old by Aug. 1, 2022, and plan to start kindergarten in the 2023-2024 school year. An eligible child must live in a household with an income below 127% of the federal poverty level and have parents or guardians who are working, going to school, attending job training or searching for employment. A limited number of vouchers is available for children who will be 4 years old by Aug. 1, 2022, live in a household with an income up to 185% of the federal poverty level, and have: A parent/guardian who is working, attending job training or an educational program, looking for employment OR A parent/guardian who receives Social Security Disability Insurance or Supplemental Security Income benefits An easy-to-use, online application called "Early Ed Connect" serves as the application for both On My Way Pre-K and child care assistance provided in Indiana via the federal Child Care Development Fund or "CCDF." Early

Ed Connect offers the benefits of easier attachment of documents and notification of successful submission. A Spanish version is also available as well as support for any technical issues.

On My Way Pre-K awards grants to 4-yearold children from low-income families so that they may have access to a high-quality pre-K program the year before they begin kindergarten. Families who receive a grant may use the grant at any approved On My Way Pre-K program throughout the state.

Once the family has met eligibility requirements and has been awarded a grant for their child, they may choose from any of the approved On My Way Pre-K programs. Families can search approved providers at www.ChildCare-Finder.IN.gov.

Approved pre-K programs may be located in a public or private school, licensed child care center, licensed home or registered ministry as long as that program meets the quality requirements and is registered as an On My Way Pre-K Provider. Families may choose from a program that is full-day or part-day, as well as from programs that end with the school year or continue through the summer. Families who need help finding an approved pre-K program can also call 800-299-1627 for assistance from an early learning referral specialist. More than 15,000 Hoosier children have attended pre-K through a grant from the On My Way Pre-K program since it began in 2015. The program, which started as a five-county pilot and then expanded to 20 counties in 2017, became a statewide program in 2019. OECOSL also updates the Indiana General Assembly every year on the program. The most recent report can be found here. The Office of Early Childhood and Out-of-School Learning is a division of the Indiana Family and Social Services Administration. Families may call 800-299-1627 for assistance from an early learning referral specialist or for other questions about On My Way Pre-K.

Fuzzy's Vodka Calls For Suspension Of The Moscow Mule Cocktail Indefinitely

Fuzzy's Vodka is announcing the launch of the American Stallion following the call to immediately suspend the Moscow Mule cocktail. On the heels of the invasion of Ukraine by Russia, Fuzzy's believes that now more than ever, the need to support and empower democracy in all countries is critical. With this action-driven initiative that moved U.S. businesses to pull Russian vodka off the shelves, Fuzzy's is standing proud in supporting their democratic allies with the launch of the American Stallion, a patriotic cocktail made with Fuzzy's American Vodka, with proceeds benefiting the American Red Cross.

Fuzzy's is proudly made in the U.S. and was created by PGA golf legend Frank Urban "Fuzzy" Zoeller. Quickly becoming known as one of America's highest quality vodkas, Fuzzy's is an 80-poof vodka crafted from Midwestern-corn, distilled five times, and charcoal-filtered ten times. Adding to its distinct flavor profile, a portion of the distillate is rested in new American oak barrels to complete their rare, and extremely unique, process. Fuzzy's Vodka is crisp, clean, certified gluten-free and supports a keto friendly diet.

For the creation of the American Stallion, Fuzzy's worked with award-winning marketing and advertising agency BNMR GLVZ to rebrand the Moscow Mule by calling for its suspension indefinitely with the creation and launch of the American Stallion. Further emphasizing the importance of sanctioning Russian vodka by replacing it with an American sourced, distilled, and bottled vodka, the American Stallion is made with Fuzzy's. In addition to the vodka, fresh lime juice, mint, and ginger beer create the refreshing taste of freedom.

"We saw the bars rushing to pour the Russian vodka out in the streets while off-site liquor retailers boxed it up and shipped it back to distributors. But we thought, what about the cultural favorites we have come to enjoy over the years? How do we cut ties with our go-to drink during Happy Hour? We didn't think it was right that we continue to pay homage to the Moscow Mule. We needed to change it...for democracy's sake," commented Benjamin Linero, Managing Partner of BNMR GLVZ.

Fuzzy's Vodka launched in 2009 and was created by Frank Urban "Fuzzy" Zoeller. One of the great characters and competitors golf has ever known, his professional career produced ten PGA victories including two majors: the '84 US Open and '79 Masters.

"I've played golf all over the world and can tell you that there's no better place in the world than America. As American's we need to stand by and support democracy throughout the world," said Fuzzy Zoeller, Brand Owner.
