Isaiah 43:1-3 Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine. When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. For I am the LORD thy God.

The early hours are daylight hours, "not spooky," she said. "Just tents to walk through. No one scares you." But after dark it will be scary. "It is dark, and things will jump out at you."

Fishers Department of Public Works Earns APWA Accreditation for Third Time, Remains only Accredited Agency in Indiana

APWA Accreditation recognizes agencies that lead in best practices, continuous improvements of operations and management

Fishers DPW manages street, park, and facilities maintenance of Cityowned properties, conducts snow and ice removal throughout the city, and manages and maintains the wastewater and stormwater utilities that serve Fishers.

Ninety-five full-time and 35 part-time men and women serve the residents of Fishers as employees of Fishers DPW.

Fishers, Ind. - The Fishers Department of Public Works (DPW) received full accreditation by the American Public Works Association (APWA) for the third time, maintaining its place as the only accredited public works department in Indiana. The accreditation formally verifies and recognizes that the agency is in full compliance with the recommended management practices set forth in APWA's Public Works Management Practices Manual.

The purpose of accreditation is to promote excellence in the operation and management of a public works agency, its programs, and employees. Accreditation is designed to assist the agency in continuous improvement of operations and management, and in providing a valid and objective evaluation of agency programs as a service to the public and the profession.

"The awarding of our third APWA Accreditation reflects the dedication from all the staff toward continuous improvements and excellence We are extremely proud to receive this honor," said DPW director Eric Pethtel.

"Recognition for this prestigious APWA award goes to all the staff from public works whose mission is to provide professional services and programs that contribute to making Fishers a great place to live and work. We received our first APWA accreditation award in 2013 and have worked hard to maintain that status for nearly a decade."

Open to all governmental agencies with responsibilities for public works functions, initial accreditation from APWA is for a four-year period, during which time semi-annual updates are required to demonstrate continuing compliance. After that time, there is a re-accreditation process which builds on the original accreditation, encouraging continuous improvement and compliance with newly identified practices.

Formally awarded the prestigious accreditation by APWA's Accreditation Council for the third time, the Fishers Department of Public Works was originally awarded APWA Accreditation in 2013.

"I'm extremely proud of the men and women of our public works team who work tirelessly 24-7 to keep our community running," said Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness.

"With accreditation comes industry acknowledgement of their hard work, and frankly, innovative approaches to making sure our roadways are clear and maintained, our parks remain well-kept, and sewer and storm water are appropriately processed. This is a department who can oftentimes be taken for granted but without their dedication, Fishers wouldn't be the community we all know and love.'

Noblesville Masons Clean Up Their Adopted Street

Last Saturday morning, the Masons of Noblesville Lodge No. 57 gathered, for the second time this year, for their street cleanup with participating Masons, Chris Hurlock (chairman, from left), Jake Waterman, Jerry Matlock, Gene Beck and Ron Williamson. Mark Winemiller was on the back side of the camera. The Masons several years ago joined the Noblesville Adopt-A-Street program, which assists the Noblesville Street Department in keeping the city beautiful. Groups select a city street to clean at least twice during their year-long commitment; the Masons do cleanup spring and fall on their adopted street, which is Hague Road from 196th Street to Carrigan Road in Noblesville. The street department provided the Masons with safety vests, garbage bags and gloves and picked up and disposed of all trash bags and debris collected in the right-of-way following the work day. A sign with their organization name is posted in their cleanup area on Hague Road just south of Noblesville West Middle School bus garage.

READI to Bring New Life, Vibrant Downtown District to McCordsville

Indiana Secretary of Commerce Brad Chambers joined local officials Monday to break ground on the McCord Square Downtown District, a $50 million, 48-acre quality of place investment in McCordsville.

The project, which is advancing with support from the nationally recognized Indiana Regional Economic Acceleration and Development Initiative, will create a new central hub and identity for the fast-growing community in central Indiana that will serve as a central gathering space for residents and visitors, establishing a vibrant new sense of place and increasing outdoor, commercial and residential amenities.

"Indiana's transformational READI initiative is breathing new life into neighborhoods, communities and urban cores across the state," Chambers said.

"It's an exciting day for McCordsville and for the Central Indiana region as we break ground on a landmark development that will help transform this growing community into a future-focused destination that will attract and support the entrepreneurs, innovators and talent of tomorrow's economy.'

The nationally recognized READI program is allocating $500 million to 17 regions across the state to accelerate shovel-ready projects and programs that are expected to transform Indiana communities, attract talent and improve the quality of life for Hoosiers in the short and long term.

In Central Indiana, McCordsville is part of the White River Regional Opportunity Initiative Partnership that was awarded $20 million in READI matching funds advance the region's vision focused on equity, environment and economy, supporting population growth, talent attraction and retention. and smart economic development.

McCord Square is a 48-acre mixed-use development that is a key project in the White River corridor, designed to establish a new, future-focused identity for this growing community that has been transforming from a rural farming town.

This new town center, located on the southeast corner of Broadway Avenue (S.R. 67) and Mt. Comfort Road, will serve as a dense, central gathering spot and will establish a true downtown for the community, bolstering business and talent attrac-

"This groundbreaking is the next big step in creating a new identity for Mc-Cordsville" said McCordsville Town Councilman Larry Longman.

"Town leadership and staff have spent over a decade planning for this development, and today represents the culmination of so many moving parts coming together to create a new direction for our community. With the addition of the READI grant we are able to add many more amenities and details to this first phase to make this project unique.'

READI matching funds are being used to support phase one of the project ($3.5M READI allocation), which includes McCord Square Apartments, the district's anchor development that will feature 205 new apartment homes and commercial studios on the first floor, as well as essential infrastructure projects, including roadways and trails with lighting, landscaping and water features, 15 acres of open park space, and irrigation and stormwater facilities.

The apartments and the surrounding infrastructure are scheduled to be complete in early spring of 2024, paving the way for community growth and future development.

Through READI, 17 regions across the state that represent all 92 counties are moving forward with projects and programs designed to enhance Indiana's regions for current and future generations of Hoosiers. Collectively, the state's $500 million investment is expected to yield an additional $9.86 billion public, private and nonprofit dollars invested (19.72:1 investment leverage ratio) in enhancing Indiana's quality of life, quality of place and quality of opportunity.

Stokes-Bear said.

The organizer and her committee descended upon Red Bridge Park community building on Monday, starting to lay out props for the Haunted Trail.

The event takes about 75 volunteers -- who hail from the community and within the Cicero Friends of the Park and Hamilton Heights High School clubs -- who help with set up and those who are on the trail waiting to spook visitors

The Halloween event takes several months of planning, meeting with Cicero Police, Fire and Parks Superintendent Jimmy Hunter, Stokes-Bear said. "The department heads of Cicero are great to work with," she said. "The park superintendent is very accommodating, and his staff is willing to help.'

There is no admission fee to this Halloween event. However, freewill donations will be accepted and go to Cicero Parks. The Haunted Trail is paved and wheelchair accessible.

"It is very important to us to always keep the Haunted Trail free, Stokes-Bear said. "My husband, Brian Bear, and myself and Cheryl Trietsch are the main coordinators and we love doing this for the community and want to give back.'

"Part of it is all of the fun for volunteers," she said. There are all kinds of duties for volunteers, from characters on the Haunted Trail to trolley-stop hosts in town, to golf-cart drivers for shuttle across the bridge, and Haunted Trail line host greeters.

"It is a blast. We love doing it," Stokes-Bear said.

In 2021, the event raised $7,500 in donations that went to Cicero Parks.

Besides the trail, the event offers food and vendors. "We are excited to add the Boy Scouts of Cicero to our event," she said. Boy Scouts are cooking and serving up ham and beans and cornbread.

"We have several food vendors, and large fire pits to sit around and stay warm."

Hamilton Heights Business Club will be there on Friday, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., leading games.

There will also be special Royal Events entertainment.

During the Haunted Trail event, only golf-cart parking will be permitted at Red Bridge Park. There will be no public parking at the park, and no parking along Morse Landing paranormal.

I know because I've participated in some of them. If you could see all the equipment the Kobrowskis take to the various locations, you'd know they were serious investigators.

I've watched them lug around things like EMF (electric and magnetic field) meters, deer cams, digital cameras, heat sensitive cameras, digital recorders (to record EVPs — electronic voice phenomena) and laser grids. (Laser grids project a pattern of colored dots that can be interrupted by shadowy figures.)

They've also used smaller, non-"techy" tools to communicate with spirits, such as dowsing rods, flashlights (they can be rigged so that ghosts can respond to questions by turning them on and off,) and various "trigger items" (familiar objects to which a ghost might be drawn, like a toy for a child spirit.)

It never hurts to have a psychic along, either.

The Kobrowski's investigations have taken them out of state to such well known paranormal hotspots as the Lizzie Borden House in Fall River, Massachusetts (it's now a bed & breakfast and museum,) the Waverly Hills Sanatorium in Louisville, Kentucky, and the Villisca Axe Murder House in Villisca, Iowa. (Eight people were murdered there in 1912.)

They've also explored many haunted properties right here in central Indiana. Some of these were private investigations. undertaken with a looseknit group of like-minded friends, while other investigations were open to the public.

Their public investigations are generally fundraisers for the organization that operates whatever building is being investigated.

Past local investigations include Lebanon's Strange Cragun House (home of the Boone County Historical Society,) the Wayne County Historical Society in Richmond, Noblesville's A. H. Lacy Block, and the Slippery Noodle Inn in downtown Indianapolis — just to name a few. Currently, there are three upcoming public investigations on the calendar: the Athenaeum in downtown Indianapolis on Nov. 19, the Old Sheriff's Residence and Jail on the Hamilton County courthouse square on Dec.

3 and the Morris-Butler

House on Indianapolis's

Old Northside on Jan. 28.

If you're interested in signing up for one of those — or any future public investigation — be aware that they all take place at night and usually run past midnight. (The Athenaeum investigations go all night long!)

In addition, space is limited and certain rules must be observed (like always using your "indoor voice" to avoid interfering with someone attempting to record EVPs.) You'll also be asked to sign a liability waiver.

If you have any questions, visit the Historic Indiana Ghost Walks & Tours Facebook page or their website, www. unseenpress.com.

You should check out their web pages anyway, if only to see photos they've posted from past investigations. Ghosts aside, all the buildings are pretty fascinating in their own right.

At this point, you're probably wondering if they've had any success contacting the Other Side.

Oh, yeah.

It's not unusual for them to receive information that's confirmed by later research. Strange odors have popped out of nowhere (like fried chicken in a kitchen where nobody is cooking,) ghostly footsteps have been heard, shadowy figures and orbs have been observed and/or photographed . . . the list

If you're skeptical, there's one particular photo on the Unseen Press website you really need to see. It was taken at the old Hamilton County jail and shows Michael and Nicole's former daughter-in-law in one of the juvenile cells.

She's NOT alone — if you get my drift. Happy Halloween!

initiative through the formation of a Broadband Task Force, a diverse group of stakeholders representing agriculture, education, health, business, economic development and local leadership. The group's goal is to identify broadband connectivity issues within the county.

Using mapping information along with analysis from government advisors at Katz, Sapper & Miller, the Commissioners, Invest Hamilton County and the Broadband Task Force have identified areas that are unserved or underserved and will be developing a strategic plan for future investment.

"Commissioners Altman, Dillinger, and I are pleased with the efforts of the county to get broadband to more residents than ever before." Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said.

"The work done by Invest Hamilton County and our Broadband Taskforce has positioned us to successfully receive grants from federal, state, and private sources both now and in the future. While we are pleased by the progress made, we understand there is much more work ahead of us to get broadband connectivity to as many residents as possible.'

To see if your location is now funded as a part of one of the federal investments, visit fcc.gov/ reports-research/maps/ rdof-phase-i-dec-2020/. Please note, LTD Broadband defaulted on 181 locations ($151,116) in the Rural Digital Opportunity Fund (RDOF) auction. These locations are no longer funded through this program, and the county is currently seeking new investors in those areas.

The RDOF federal investments are anticipated to be deployed over the next six years, and the county is actively working to reduce this timeline by working with providers to expedite permits, streamline infrastructure investments and provide coordination as utilities seek to serve unserved areas.

How can you help attract broadband to your neighborhood?

Underserved residents and businesses play a critical role in helping attract investment to your area. If you still need high-speed internet service, please visit the following two websites to help the county attract investments to your location:

Indiana Farm Bureau Speed Test: infarmbureau. org/resources/broadbandspeed-test

Taking the test will allow residents to determine their current internet speed and provide important data to ensure unserved or underserved areas are eligible for upcoming broadband grants and private investment.

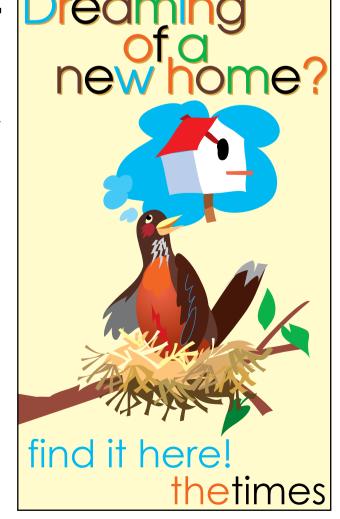

Indiana Farm Bureau formed the Indiana Broadband Strategic Partnership (IBSP) to expand reliable broadband service to Indiana's most unserved and underserved communities. IBSP also includes Cook Medical Group, Duke Energy Foundation, Indiana Association of Realtors, Radius Indiana, and the Regional Opportunity

Initiative. Indiana Connectivity Program: indianaegms. force.com/nlc/s/login/Self-Register?locale=us

The Indiana Connectivity Program is designed to provide faster grant funding to smaller neighborhoods or locations that are currently near, but just out of reach of, an existing provider. Hamilton County received funding from the program to provide rapid service to 12 locations that were near an existing provider but not close enough to make an extension possible.

The residents at those locations signed up for the new program through the Office of Community and Rural Affairs' (OCRA) Indiana Connectivity Program. Residents and businesses are encouraged to sign up for the program so that providers can apply to receive grant funds, on a rolling basis, to serve those locations.

The County, Invest Hamilton County and the Broadband Taskforce will continue to provide updates and inform residents about how they can help attract investment to Hamilton County.
