➤ FACES OF HAMILTON COUNTY
People who call our community their own.

What makes Sydney Strange smile? "Watching everyone get along and meeting people at club meetings and or just here in general," said the 14-year-old, a freshman at Fishers High School, a seven-year 4-H'er who has been in Junior Leaders four years. She is secretary of Junior Leaders. Why 4-H? "It's always just been such a close, tight-knit community that's always had so many fun people that I know and that I can meet. It's always been so fun to get to know everyone." She is the daughter of Shawn and Susie Strange and was found dressed as Little Red Riding Hood and leading the Cake Walk, one of the many activities at the Hamilton County Junior Leaders' annual Halloween Carnival, Haunted House and Hayride on Oct. 3 at the 4-H Fairgrounds. Favorite activity at the Halloween event? "Fishing or the haunted house." Her duties at the party? She led the Cake Walk, Fishing game and sometimes I roamed around trying to help." She loves doing activities with Junior Leaders, who feel like "we're a family," she said. Her favorite 4-H project? "Arts and Crafts, and Horse and Pony," a proud 4-H Fair achievement? "When I was little, I won the (pedal) tractor pull, and I still have the trophy." Enrollment is now open to join Hamilton County 4-H for the 2024 year, now through Jan. 15, with the theme, "Let's Have S'More Fun." Enroll in 4-H and earn a s'more kit. Stop by the 4-H Office in the Exhibition Center at the 4-H Fairgrounds in Noblesville 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. Enroll online at <https://in.4Honline.com>. From The Editor's Desk...

Noblesville author Larry Sweazy is finally getting to celebrate the publication of his most recent milestone: writing and publishing his 20th book.

Art courtesy of Larry Sweazy

Thursday, he will have his first book signing since the pandemic. Sweazy will celebrate his award-winning westerns during the book signing, which will be 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, a Books, Boots and Bourbon celebration at MacArthur Books, 2169 Glebe St, Suite 100a, Carmel. There will be whisky tasting and reading. Ten percent of proceeds will be donated to Agape Therapeutic Riding Resources, to which 10 percent of his books will be donated.

His newest book is his first collection of short stories, "A Cow Hunter's Lament and Other Stories," which was published earlier this year. Stories range from Texas Rangers to Florida cattle ranching to American Indians to displaced Civil War Southerners. "It's a rousing collection of true Western lore," he said.

The year 2022 was a good year for Sweazy's books, earning at least five awards. These included 2022 Indiana Authors Award and 2022 Will Rogers Medallion Award medalist in Modern for "Winter Seeks Out the Lonely;" Will Rogers medallion Award Medalist, for "Lost Mountain Pass;" for which he also was a Western Fictioneers Peacemaker Award finalist and a Western Writers of America Spur Award finalist.

Sweazy has three new short stories coming out in the new feature: The Low Waters" in an upcoming issue of "Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine;" "Hell Mary" in the upcoming anthology, "Lawless;" and "Dandy Joe's Last Buck Off"

Sweazy is also currently working on a new novel that he hopes to have completed by the end of the year.

Sweazy started out writing short stories, and published his first one in 1993, which to his surprise, finds him 30 years into a writing career.

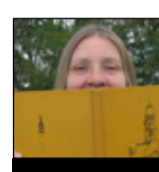

Since 1993, he has published 38 more short stories for a total of 39 to date. His short stories have been anthologized in a year's best collection, and Sweazy has been nominated for and awarded some major awards. "Short stories allow me to play in multiple genres without the big commitment of novels," he said.

His first novel was published in 2009 after receiving over 200 rejections. He was 49.

Since 2009, he has published 19 novels "to critical acclaim," and received 10 national writing awards. Two of his novels have been Amazon Bestsellers. He

2. One of Hamilton County's covered bridges used to be located in Delaware Township. What was its name?
3. Fishers has gone by other names. What were they?
4. Name four Delaware Township communities that no longer exist.

9. The first African American on record in Hamilton County was working for William Conner when a Kentuckian spotted him and spirited him off to slavery in the fall of 1820. What was the man's name?

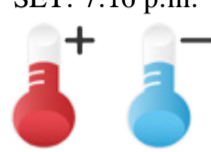

And the answers . . .

1. False. In the beginning, it was one of the only two townships in Hamilton County. (The other was White River Township.)
2. When the county was divided into nine townships in 1833, the smaller Delaware Township included land west of White River, but in 1954 that land became part of Clay Township. Delaware Township is now Hamilton County's smallest township.
3. Eller's Bridge. It crossed White River at 116th Street. The bridge burned down in 1957, a victim of arson.
4. Fisher's Station and Fisher's Switch. They were both in use during the days Fishers was a stop on the railroad.
5. Gray, New Britton, West Liberty and Mattsville. Gray, originally called East Branch, was at 146th Street and Gray Road. Mattsville was at the intersection of 116th Street and Haverstick Road.
6. (If Gray and Mattsville were around today, they'd be in Clay Township.)

Nancy Doty Retires From Nursing After 44 Remarkable Years

Nancy Doty, a retiring nurse, has had a remarkable career and journey working 44 years at Majestic Care of Sheridan. Nancy genuinely enjoys connecting with her residents and bringing smiles to their faces. She is kind, patient, hard-working, and a joy to be around.

Her career began as a candy striper in high school, and after graduating, she decided to become a nursing assistant in 1979, a time when certification wasn't required. Working the night shift, she found joy in caring for patients and building strong bonds with her coworkers.

In 1981, Nancy took a significant step by enrolling at J Everett Light Center, embarking on an 18-month journey to become a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN), which she accomplished in May 1983.

When asked for a highlight of her career, Nancy shared, "I was employee of the year; it was special as my coworkers chose that award for me. I have had Residents tell me that I am their favorite nurse. I love that!"

Nancy's enduring commitment to long-term care can be attributed to her deep connection with those she cares for. "I really enjoyed getting to know my patients and their families. With long-term care, you can follow your patient's journey through life, you feel that you have become part of their family."

When asked what she loves about Majestic Care of Sheridan, Nancy shared, "I've always loved being at Sheridan, it's my hometown. There were a few years when it was difficult to work here, the care for the staff wasn't there, but with the change to Majestic Care and new administration, it has become a pleasure again. I will miss you all!!!

We sincerely appreciate and thank Nancy for her hard work and dedication! She will be missed by many when she retires.

speaks at libraries (where his books are found in the adult fiction section) regularly and teaches writing workshops across Indiana and the country. He has served on the board of directors for the Midwest Writers Workshop and on the faculty of the Midwest Writers Workshop and on the faculty of the Indiana Writer's Center.

The best part about his life? "I continue to write every day, which is what I set out to do: have a long career, and live my life as a writer."

So after 30 years, how does he feel these days about writing?

"I'm as excited, or more excited than I have ever been about writing. I've learned a lot and still have a lot more to learn. Writing a novel or a short story never gets easier, and that is a challenge that I gladly face every day when I'm looking at a blank page," Sweazy said.

How does he come up with new story ideas?

"I probably have more ideas at this point in my life than I can use. Ideas are journeys and rarely come fully formed to me. Sometimes, it's a character I want to follow and learn more about. Or I want to look at a genre trope in a different way. Or I want to explore a time period like the Great Depression. Or go to a place I've never been," Sweazy said. "I've always believed setting informs a character. How can the weather in Alaska not influence how a person lives their life? Do they give up, or persevere? That's where I find my ideas. In those questions, and wondering how other people live, survive, and thrive in different times and places."

What about his fan following?

"Genre readers are devoted fans," he said. "When people email and ask if I have a new book coming out because they've read all of my previous books, well, there's no better feeling for a writer than that."

Advice for author wannabes?

"Read a lot and write a lot. Artists get better by doing, not talking about doing. Sounds simple, but it's not. A writer must put in the time. Everything we need to know is in the books that we read. Read a lot and write a lot."

Anything this writer has learned that he'd like to share?

"The thing I have always loved about publishing is that it is a level playing field. There are no secret handshakes, no family connections needed, no college degree required. All you have to do is write a good book. Again, not simple. A book that readers will love and one that gets the attention of an editor who wants to advocate for its existence in the world," Sweazy said. "Publishing is a tough business and getting tougher every day. But it has never been easy to make a living as a writer, as an artist, and it never will be. Resilience and persistence are requirements to survive. Never give up. That's the only way I've been able to survive 30 years."

Anything else?

"I still have a dream. I still want to get better. I still have stories to tell," Sweazy said. "No matter what changes come in publishing, I'm still going to write. I'm a writer. Writers write. I don't know how to do anything else."

7. Heady Hollow is the dip in Allisonville Road at 126th Street. The name comes from the Heady family, early settlers who lived nearby.

Don't Miss Your Chance To Witness The 2024 Total Solar Eclipse At Grand Park Sports Campus

The City of Westfield is pleased to announce events surrounding the Total Solar Eclipse on Monday, April 8, 2024. Westfield will experience one of the most extraordinary natural phenomena in our skies. A total solar eclipse will happen in Westfield at approximately 3:06 p.m., lasting 3 minutes and 18 seconds.

Westfield will host Solar Eclipse festivities at Grand Park Sports Campus with fun for the entire family from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Attendees can enjoy food and drinks from food trucks, a concert with the 1985 Band, attractions and inflatables, and total darkness from the eclipse. Grand Universe will have viewing telescopes on-site to educate attendees about the solar eclipse and its history. Special guest Dr.

In the last few years he seems to have become "Pete Smith." I believe that can be traced to a couple of newspaper articles published 60+ years after the fact in which Augustus Finch Shirts calls him "Pete" and another in which Shirts refers to him as "Smith."

"Pete Smith" is an assumption, however, not an established fact. I've never run across a reference to "Pete Smith" in that context, and I'm wary of just assuming that was his name. Shirts hadn't even been born at the time of the incident, so his information is second-hand.

Robert B. Duncan, who was ten when his family settled near William Conner's trading post in March, 1820, wrote in 1879 that the African American's name was Bill Allen.

It's possible neither name is correct. If the man was an escaped slave, as some early settlers stated in later years, he could have been using an alias, like the Rhodes family.

Or, he may have gone by a Delaware name. (He'd been living among the Delawares long enough to acquire three wives!)

What is a total solar eclipse?

A total solar eclipse happens when the Moon passes between the Sun and Earth, completely blocking the face of the sun. The sky will darken as if it were dawn or dusk; the sky will begin to change around 1:50 p.m. with totality at 3:06 p.m. The next total solar eclipse from the contiguous United States will be August 23, 2044.

It has been 819 years since Hamilton County had a total solar eclipse.

STATE OF INDIANA SUPERIOR COURT #1 COUNTY OF HAMILTON CASE #29D01-2304-AD-000482

In re the Adoption of Aria Rose Sherrill NOTICE TO NAMED PUTATIVE FATHER James Otha Sherrill, hereinafter "Putative Father", who has been named the father of the child born to Brittany Michelle Sherrill on 5/11/2017, hereinafter "Child", or who claims to be the father of the Child, is notified that a petition for adoption of the Child was filed in the office with the Clerk of Court of Hamilton County, Indiana, 1 N. Grant Street, Noblesville, IN 46060.

If James Otha Sherrill seeks to contest the adoption of the Child, he must file a motion to contest the adoption in accordance with IC 31-19-10-1 in the above court not later than thirty (30) days after the date of service of this notice. If James Otha Sherrill does not file a motion to contest the adoption within thirty (30) days after service of this notice, the above court will hear and determine the petition for adoption. His consent will be irrevocably implied and he will lose his right to contest either the adoption or the validity of his implied consent to the adoption. He will lose his right to establish his paternity of the Child under IC § 31-14.

Nothing Mother or anyone else says to James Otha Sherrill relieves James Otha Sherrill of his obligations under this notice.

Under Indiana law, a putative father is a person who is named as or claims that he may be the father of a child born out of wedlock but who has not yet been legally proven to be the child's father. For purposes of this notice, James Otha Sherrill is a putative father under the laws in Indiana regarding adoption.

This notice complies with IC 31-19-4-5 but does not exhaustively set forth a putative father's legal obligations under the Indiana adoption statutes. A person being served with this notice should consult the Indiana adoption statutes.

Keep Your Home Cozy In Cool Weather With These Upgrades

(StatePoint) When the temperatures drop and the precipitation turns cold, efficiently keeping your home cozy and warm is likely a top priority.

As you make home upgrades this fall, be sure to use materials designed to withstand extreme weather events and which help manage indoor climate control. Doing so will mean greater comfort and more affordable energy bills, not only when it's cold, but all year long.

Roofing

As your first defense against all kinds of weather, your roof sustains a lot of wear and tear. Consider prioritizing durability, strength and weather resistance in a new roof by opting for metal. The good news? You can get a classic appearance with this material, thanks to updates in roofing technology. For example, the energy-saving metal roofing offered by ProVia has the textured appearance of natural slate or shake shingles, but is constructed of highly durable 26-gauge steel, for added strength and lifetime protection from wind, rain, hail and corrosion.

Siding

Is your home is ever drafty or chilly when the temperatures drop and the wind kicks up? The culprit may be insufficient insulation. Keep in mind that most wall insulation is placed only between the studs, and wall studs make up to 25% of the wall surface of an average home. You can fill in these insulation gaps with insulated vinyl siding that's been tested and proven to increase the R-value (a measure of a material's resistance to heat flow) of an exterior wall. One of the most energy-efficient exterior claddings on the market, CedarMAX insulated vinyl siding is one such choice that can help reduce your energy bills. Plus, its strong, rigid foam backing offers greater impact resistance against rain, hail, sleet and snow, making a siding upgrade a good project to consider before the first winter storm.

Windows

Windows are a common point of heat transfer, and as such, they play a huge role in the comfort of your home. It's not often that you have to purchase windows for your home, but when you do, you'll want to ensure that they deliver the best in energy efficiency and comfort. ProVia's vinyl windows, for example, are ENERGY STAR-certified, to help keep your home warm in winter (and cool in summer).

Interior Décor

You may not think about your interior decorating choices as something that could potentially improve your home's energy efficiency, but many such updates will not only make your home look more cozy, they'll actually help keep it warm. Thick area rugs are a good place to start, as they provide insulation underfoot. Likewise, cellular shades or Roman shades can help stop heat transfer around windows, and wall tapestries or fabric-like wallpaper can provide a touch more insulation on walls.

Amplify Autumn Curb Appeal, 5 Home Renovation Projects To Tackle This Fall

(Family Features) With lower temperatures and milder conditions, fall provides a perfect opportunity to tackle that home renovation to-do list. Whether you plan on making minor improvements or wholesale changes are on the horizon, taking on a few DIY projects can help you boost your home's curb appeal (and its value) while also prepping for colder weather in the days ahead.

Making investments now - like putting time and money toward long-term energy efficiency - can pay off down the road, whether you're planning for a potential sale or simply looking to get more enjoyment out of your home. Plus, many exterior upgrades can be completed by homeowners, meaning there's no need to hire a professional when it's time to give your home a refresh.

Beautify those dull areas, boost resale value and add comfort with these ideas from the experts at Westlake Royal Building Products, a manufacturer of high-quality, low-maintenance products designed to meet the specifications and needs of building professionals, homeowners, architects, engineers and distributors.

Add or Replace Shutters

As a classic exterior design element, shutters can add instant charm to your home. With a variety of materials and colors to choose from, you can add shutters that suit your style and budget to give your home a more polished look. If it's already adorned with shutters, consider updating them with newer styles for a fresh appearance.

Upgrade with Stone Veneer

Natural and textured home trends continue to rise, leading many building pros and homeowners to gravitate toward stone veneer, or manufactured stone, as it can replicate the look of real stone. The wide range of exterior and interior applications means you can add comfort, character and beauty while complementing your existing style. Consider an option like Versetta Stone from Westlake Royal Building Products, which offers homeowners an authentic, hand-crafted look in a panelized format that's easy to install with nails and screws. There's no need to paint, coat or seal once installed for a low-maintenance solution for accent walls, fireplaces, siding, entryways and walkways.

Refresh Porch Columns

Routine cleaning is one way to maintain porch columns, but if they're rotting or splitting, consider PVC porch column wraps for a visual transformation. Easy and often affordable, they're durable and decorative to fit existing columns or poles and can be painted to match your exterior color palette. They're resistant to pests, moisture and weather damage for long-lasting and nearly maintenance-free upgrades.

Invest in Insulated Siding

Good insulation is key to keeping your home warm, cozy and weather-proof during colder months. While there are many ways to upgrade the insulation of your house, some homeowners are turning to insulated siding for a long-term solution. Long-lasting, weather-proof, durable and aesthetically pleasing, CraneBoard Solid Core Siding from Westlake Royal Building Products offers a cost-efficient way to beat the cold. It's low maintenance, built to last and withstands temperature fluctuations and hurricane force winds for a highly functional option to keep cold out for years to come.

Update the Driveway

Whether you're looking to make some simple updates or it's time for a complete renovation, showing your driveway some love can significantly improve your home's curb appeal. Adding an address post with a hanging basket or planting trees, shrubbery or flowers along the sides lends immediate aesthetic improvement. For added low-light visibility and visual appeal, install lights along the perimeter to help the greenery stand out in the evening. If you're ready for a major overhaul, consider upgrading the driveway using cobblestone, pavers or stamped concrete.
