FACES OF HAMILTON COUNTY

What makes Sydney Strange smile? "Watching everyone get along and meeting people at club meetings and or just here in general," said the 14-year-old, a freshman at Fishers High School, a seven-year 4-H'er who has been in Junior Leaders four years. She is secretary of Junior Leaders. Why 4-H? "It's always just been such a close, tight-knit community that's always had so many fun people that I know and that I can meet. It's always been so fun to get to know everyone." She is the daughter of Shawn and Susie Strange and was found dressed as Little Red Riding Hood and leading the Cake Walk, one of the many activities at the Hamilton County Junior Leaders' annual Halloween Carnival, Haunted House and Hayride on Oct. 3 at the 4-H Fairgrounds. Favorite activity at the Halloween event? "Fishing or the haunted house." Her duties at the party? She led the Cake Walk, Fishing game and sometimes I roamed around trying to help." She loves doing activities with Junior Leaders, who feel like "we're a family," she said. Her favorite 4-H project? "Arts and Crafts, and Horse and Pony." a proud 4-H Fair achievement? "When I was little, I won the (pedal) tractor pull, and I still have the trophy." Enrollment is now open to join Hamilton County 4-H for the 2024 year, now through Jan. 15, with the theme, "Let's Have S'More Fun." Enroll in 4-H and earn a s'more kit. was mostly about going trickor-treating - accent on the "treat."

Oh, there were a few tricks, but they seem rather tame compared to the shenanigans of earlier years.

Sometimes someone's car horn would get stuck, and when I walked to school the day after Halloween I often saw windows that had been soaped, and sidewalks that were smeared with pumpkin guts and/or littered with dried corn. That was it.

I'd rather clean off a window or sidewalk than to have to set an outhouse upright again!

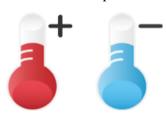

(I never was completely sure what the dried corn was for. I'm just assuming it was thrown at people's windows to startle them.)

No, in the '60s, we weren't that interested in mischief. Mostly, we were all about seeing how much candy we could score — jawbreakers; all kinds of junior candy bars like Milky goods, live music, kids bounce houses and a vintage scooter, car and tractor show attracted folks from far and near.

My favorite part of the walk - from one end of downtown Arcadia to the other end of town — was seeing up close all of the vintage cars. There were about 80 entries in the show.

Plus, I enjoyed seeing what's new or changed in town.

Walking around downtown Arcadia made me think about some of the things I like about the town.

1. I love the small-town feel. 2. I love The Remnant Coffee Shop, which opened in 2019 thanks to White River Christian Church outreach, in the former Hedgehog Music Showcase, which still has occasional shows at The Remnant thanks to Hedgehog's Bob Foster. The space easily turned into a wonderful all-ages gathering ach feta croissants.

3. I love what owners have done with the Northbrook Brewing Co., which opened more than a year ago on Main Street. It's an interesting gathering place, with brewery and tap room, an outdoor beer garden, garage doors that open and a room in the back with picnic tables, pool table and TVs, and yes, kids can dine and play there, too.

4. I love to see the Nickel Plate Express train ride drop off passengers in Arcadia for the afternoon and pick up passengers to return to Noblesville. Seeing the train on the tracks on Saturday was reminiscent of days gone by.

5. I love to see Lyneen Burrow's old truck used as the Arcadia festival's mascot. Visitors to the festival just love to get their photos taken in front of the 1965 Ford F100. Burrow is the owner of Always in Stitches in Noblesville and is a 1976 graduate of Westfield High School.

American Red Cross Offers Halloween Safety Tips

Before we get into important safety tips when trick or treating, let's take a look at all of the local times for our kiddos to dress up and venture out to get some candy and other treats.

Halloween is a popular holiday in this country and many children will be out dressed up as their favorite superheroes, cartoon and television characters. The American Red Cross of the Indiana Region has tips that parents can follow to keep their kids safe during the festivities.

Trick-or-treaters need to see and be seen. Use face makeup instead of masks which could make seeing difficult. Give trick-or-treaters a flashlight and glow sticks to light their way and help make the route easier for them to follow and more visible to any vehicles on the roads. Add reflective tape to costumes and trick-or-treat bags. If possible, have everyone wear light-colored clothing. Below are more tips to consider to keep you and your family safe this Halloween:

• Use flame-resistant costumes.

• Make sure adults know where the kids are going. A parent or responsible adult should accompany young children door-to-door.

- Be cautious around animals, especially dogs.
- Walk, don't run.
 Only visit homes that have a porch light on.
 Accept treats at the door and never go inside.

• Walk only on sidewalks, not on the street. Look both ways before crossing the street, and cross only at the corner. Don't cross between parked cars, and don't cut across yards or use alleys.

• Drivers – use extra caution as youngsters may forget to look both ways before crossing.

• A grown-up should check all goodies before eating. Make sure to remove loose candy, open packages and remove any choking hazards. Discard any items with brand names that you are not familiar with.

If you are planning to welcome trick-or-treaters to your home, follow these safety steps:

• Light the area well so young visitors can see.

• Sweep leaves from your sidewalks and steps. Clear your porch or front yard of obstacles someone could trip over.

City Of Fishers Opens Applications Indiana's Favorite Ghoul Sets For 2024 Arts & Culture grant Sights On Unclaimed Property

$142k+ in funds distributed to 37 projects over last four years

The City of Fishers is now accepting applications for the 2024 Fishers Arts & Culture Commission Grant. This program aims to foster creative partnerships within the Fishers arts community by providing funds for a wide variety of arts and cultural related activities within the City.

In its fourth year, the Arts & Culture Commission Grant invests in artists, art organizations, and cultural events that promote creativity, vibrancy, and a sense of place within the community. Since 2021, the Commission has distributed over $142,000 in funds to 37 projects or organizations. The grant is administered by the Fishers Arts & Culture Commission (FACC) and funds are allocated from the City of Fishers' annual budget.

"The Commission is excited to announce the fourth annual Fishers Arts and Culture Grant," shared Katie Haigh, Chair of the Fishers Arts & Culture

Commission. "Since its inception in 2021, the grant has supported numerous transformative projects throughout Fishers - from captivating public performances to immersive gallery displays and innovative public art pieces. We look forward to another year of inspiring submissions from our vibrant Fishers art community."

Artists, creative companies, nonprofits and for-profit businesses that are in or do work within City of Fishers boundaries are invited to apply. Grant funds range from $1,000 to $7,500 and projects must take place within Fishers. No match is required. Applications for the 2024 grant cycle are due December 15, 2023.

The City also launched a new Fishers Arts & Culture Commission Business Matching Grant for businesses and organizations to partner with the Commission for the installation of public art on their property. Matching funds can be requested up to $25,000 and must be at least 50% of the total project cost.

Targeted areas for this new investment include along the Nickel Plate Trail and Nickel Plate District, I-69 and State Road 37 corridors, Allisonville Road corridor, 96th Street, 116th Street, 126th Street, Lantern Road, USA Parkway, Crosspoint Boulevard, Olio Road and areas surrounding both Fishers and Hamilton Southeastern High Schools. Applications are accepted and reviewed bi-monthly throughout 2023 during Commission meetings.

Two business matching grants have been awarded thus far, including the Mudsock Horsepower mural at Alderman Automotive by Hue Murals by Koda Witsken and The Stations at Fishers District sculpture at Whistle Drive Development by Rachel Kavathe Studio.

Ways, Snickers, and 3 Musketeers; candy cigarettes (yes, believe it or not;) Bazooka bubble gum; Tootsie Rolls; Lifesavers . . . the list goes on and on.

Sometimes we'd also come home with apples or homemade goodies such as popcorn balls or cookies. I remember my mother passing out pumpkin cookies in little, individual waxed paper bags one Halloween.

My cousin, the Dancing Librarian, noted that some people tended to hand out the same thing every year, so you knew which home to visit if you had a yen for that specific treat.

We didn't have set times for trick-or-treating. You might have seen kids in costume going door-to-door any evening around Halloween and trick-or-treating lasted longer — usually until 9 p.m.

Trick-or-treating was safer in my day. Nobody thought twice about sending older kids out to walk the neighborhood without adult supervision.

We never worried about candy that had been tampered with or finding razor blades in apples, and the idea that you might ring a doorbell and have someone greet you by waving a gun in your face never occurred to us.

There were no commercial "Haunted Houses" except the one at the Children's Museum in Indianapolis and it was nothing like the bloody, gory places you can visit now. It was just a spooky good time.

People also didn't decorate their homes as if they were competing in a Christmas lighting contest. You might have seen some Indian corn or bittersweet, but jack-olanterns were the main decoration. (Pumpkins cost less than a dollar then!)

Although store-bought costumes and plastic masks were around, homemade costumes were the rule, not the exception, and some of those were really creative.

The Dancing Librarian likes to tell about the time she took her youngest brother trick-or-treating. Their other siblings had taken off, leaving "B" (oh yeah, like I'm going to give you his real name — he'd probably kill me) home alone except for his big sister.

The DL was a teenager at the time and the notion of escorting a seven or eight year-old around the neighborhood to beg for candy wasn't very appealing to her, but she took pity on him . . . after a fashion.

B needed a costume and somehow the DL managed to talk him into dressing like comedian Red Skelton's "Junior, the Mean Widdle Kid" character, complete with short pants, knee socks, straw hat and a big bow around his neck. She went as his nanny.

It was really cold that night and B, with his bare knees, nearly froze. His discomfort was soon forgotten, however, after they returned home and he not only got to enjoy the candy he'd collected, the DL gave him most of hers.

Happy Halloween!

New Performance Report Cards Go Live On Each Indiana School's Website, Replacing A-F Grades

By Casey Smith Indiana Capital Chronicle

To increase transparency around Indiana students' education performance, new report cards issued by the state education department are now required to be posted on nearly every Hoosier school's website.

Beginning Oct. 15, each public and state-accredited non-public school must post online a performance report from the Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) that shows how its students are doing on academic and other measures.

The report cards replace the state's previous accountability system in which the state assigned A through F grades to measure a school's quality. 2023-24 academic years and varies by the grade levels served by a school.

For example, reports for elementary schools which are defined as those serving grades K-8 — will include pass rates for the 3rd grade literacy test, known as IREAD-3, along with pass rates for the statewide ILEARN exam, chronic absenteeism rates, and per-student funding.

High school report cards will also highlight per-student funding, along with average composite SAT scores, as well as graduation and non-waiver graduation rates. Additionally, secondary school performance reports will provide the percentage of students who enrolled in and passed any of the following: an Advanced (HEA) 1591.

Even so, the A-F school grades are still required in the state code. Under the new law, however, the state education department will issue "null" grades for each school for the 2022-23 and 2023-24 school years, as it has since 2018.

Under the new law, IDOE is also charged with providing the Indiana General Assembly with future accountability recommendations that can be used in subsequent years. Those are due to state lawmakers by Dec. 1, 2024.

What the data shows — and what the state is doing

Hundreds of schools across the state already have performance re ports embedded on their websites, according to the IDOE. It's not yet clear whether any schools are not complying with the new requirement. The performance reports come amid a statewide push to help Hoosier students recover from the academic impacts of the pandemic and ensure new high school graduates are more adequately prepared to enter the workforce. That includes vigorous efforts to improve literacy among the state's youngest students, largely through the mandatory adoption of science of reading instruction. Earlier this year, the state board of education additionally reduced the number of Indiana academic standards and approved a revision of the ILEARN assessment. The goal is to make it easier for teachers to craft individualized lesson plans and allow schools more flexibility in administering the standardized exams.

State leaders are also rethinking efforts to get kids into the classroom every day. New state data released earlier this month showed about 40% of Hoosier students missed 10 or more school days last year, and nearly one in five were "chronically absent," meaning they missed at least 18 days.

More broadly, Jenner has maintained that Indiana's prior school accountability measures are outdated and need to be updated.

Many state lawmakers agree, though some GOP leaders, like Rep. Bob Behning, R-Indianapolis, say the A to F system shouldn't go away completely, but instead should use different metrics to assess school performance.

Community Center (Corner of 8th and Division Streets) from 1:00-4:00 P.M. All branches of service, Reservists, & National Guard, whether stateside or deployed, are invited to attend. Everyone welcome!

A free gift of the Time to Honor book, DVD documentary, photos, refreshments, and various veterans' organizations will be present, including Veterans Resource personnel, Pets for Vets, and the Honor Flight.

This event is sponsored by the Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans organization (WHVV.org) which has held more than 160 gift events throughout the state. The Horseshoe Prairie, Noblesville, and Jonathan Jennings, Carcan trace their lineage to an individual who contributed to securing American independence during the Revolutionary War. Today's DAR is dynamic and diverse, with members in over 4,000 chapters in the United States and abroad. DAR members annually provide millions of hours of volunteer service to their communities across the country and world, and participate in projects to promote historic preservation, education, and patriotism. Over one million members have joined the organization since its founding in 1890. Learn more about DAR membership by visiting www.dar.org or contact Shirley Hunter Smith at Shirley1776@yahoo.com. School grades have been effectively suspended since 2018, when Indiana shifted from ISTEP to a new state standardized test and later grappled with the COVID-19 pandemic.

State officials maintain that the new school performance reports will provide additional transparency around key data points, like test results, attendance rates and career readiness.

Indiana Secretary of Education Katie Jenner said she also hopes the move will help parents, families and communities to better understand what's happening in their schools.

What's in the reports Information included in the performance reports covers the 2022-23 and Placement exam, International Baccalaureate exam, dual credit course, or Cambridge International exam.

All schools are also required to compare their data to those serving similar grade bands. Schools with high rates of students who receive free or reduced lunch additionally provide a comparison of their metrics to schools with a similar population.

Much of the data for the new report cards is already available to the public, though, and was drawn from the Indiana Graduates Prepared to Succeed (GPS) dashboard, which the state released earlier this year.

State lawmakers required the performance reports earlier this year in House Enrolled Act Behning and other legislators have recommended, for example, multiple letter grades for different accountability measures.
