The City of Fishers plans to hire more than 100 summer positions for Fishers Parks and the Department of Public Works. 1 ATF is looking for energetic, innovative, solution-oriented professionals to help reduce violent crime and protect the public. ATF special agents are highly trained, elite law enforcement officers who investigate violations of federal laws and regulations related to the criminal misuse of firearms and explosives, firearms trafficking, acts of arson, and the diversion of alcohol and tobacco products. Learn more at <https://www.atf.gov/careers/becoming-special-agent>

2 The Indiana Commission for Higher Education announced Indiana's first statewide policy guidance for credit for prior learning (CPL). The state CPL model policy guidance supports the utilization of CPL across Indiana's higher education institutions. Nearly 2 million Hoosier adults do not have a credential beyond a high school diploma, and nearly 40 percent of those ages 25 and above have some college, but no degree. Through awarding credit for college-level learning gained through knowledge, skills, and competencies earned outside of a formal classroom setting, CPL helps Hoosier adults further their education and training beyond high school. The model policy guidance provides for minimum program standards and supports consistency among Indiana's higher education institutions. Each institution's CPL program and policies can be found at <https://transferin.net/ways-to-earn-credit/credit-for-prior-learning-cpl-clearinghouse/>

3 The Indiana Department of Natural Resources closed the river otter trapping season on March 5 after the statewide quota of 750 river otters was reported harvested by licensed trappers. The season was scheduled to run from Nov. 15 – March 15, or until the quota was reached. The framework of Indiana's river otter season was carefully designed to limit the total harvest and support Indiana's river otter population. By rule, when total harvest levels approach the statewide quota, the season closes automatically.

Many people want to help after a major emergency or disaster, but few take the time to prepare, oftentimes thinking it will not happen to them. Hamilton County Emergency Management volunteer Andre Maue thought the same thing when he completed first aid, CPR, Stop the Bleed, and how to use an AED. Thankfully, he was wrong and applied his training to save a life. Andre was at a McDonald's restaurant on a busy Sunday afternoon in January when a strange wheezing sound came from a booth where an elderly couple was sitting. The woman stood up and brought her hands to her throat. The sounds stopped, and her airway was blocked. "It was like a movie," said Andre. "Everyone stopped and stared at her. My training kicked in. I rushed over, asked her if she was choking, and if I could help," said Andre. He performed back blows, but they did not dislodge the blockage. Thankfully, when he performed the Heimlich Maneuver, the woman could breathe again. On Saturday, Feb. 3, Andre was awarded a life-saving award for his quick actions. "I am incredibly proud of those in our community who are motivated to serve something greater than

Noblesville Creates Has Busy March

Creates is welcoming John Cox's Natural Light exhibit and Noblesville City Hall's Total Eclipse: From Light to Dark exhibit among its other artists of the month in March. Details on Natural Light and Total Eclipse: From Light to Dark, as well as information on the March artist exhibit dates and receptions, are available below.

STEPHENSON HOUSE: John Cox

Born and raised in Indiana, brother John Cox has been honing his craftsmanship for decades. Originally a sketch artist and photographer, Cox uses his eye for detail and passion to create beauty through the lens of his camera to build one of a kind lamps. Cox's evolution from the canvas and camera to designing and making artisan lamps allows him to incorporate his love for nature, the trademark element, into each piece.

Cox's use of antique hardware and gorgeous wood components brings about a perfect marriage of his two passions, resulting in pieces that tell stories from the past, capture the beauty of nature today, and will inspire love long into the future.

The full Natural Light exhibit can be seen in the Stephenson House this month Wednesday through Friday from noon to 5 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Noblesville Creates campus.

Update from Hamilton Heights School Corporation

DR. ARROWOOD
Guest Columnist

We have much to celebrate this month when it comes to the arts (visual arts, music, theater, and dance) at Hamilton Heights. March has been designated by the National Dance Education Organization as "Dance in Our Schools Month," by the National Association for Music Education as "Music in our Schools Month," by the National Theatre Association as "Theatre in Our Schools Month," and by the Council for Art Education as "Youth Art Month."

The district has long understood the benefit, value, and importance of arts education. We strongly believe that a well-rounded education, including the arts, helps to better prepare our students for success after graduation. The arts are more than an extracurricular activity; they are an essential element to a well-rounded education at Heights with each discipline bringing its own body of knowledge and skills. Arts education and enrichment program opportunities at Heights help increase student engagement, promote leadership, enhance creativity and intellectual skills, and support literacy and numeracy. Beyond the intrinsic value of artistic expression, studies have consistently shown that students who participate in arts education demonstrate higher academic achievement, improved attendance, and increased civic engagement. The arts instill discipline and perseverance, teaching students the importance of dedication and practice in pursuit of excellence. The arts at Heights are thriving with interest and participation thanks in large part to our arts educators and staff who inspire, engage, and help provide our students with life-changing and far-reaching experiences throughout their journey at Heights. They include Mark

Snelson (Band-HHHS/HHMS), Billy Cox (Band-HHHS/HHMS), Jill Howell (Choir-HHHS/HHMS), Tara Mueller (Music-HHES), Kylee Woods (Amber Guard-HHHS), Brooks Myers (Theater-HHHS), (Cheri Trachtman (Art-HHES), Erin Goodman (Art-HHMS), and Taylor Myers (Art-HHHS).

I would also like to give a shout out to those in the community for their ongoing support of the arts at Heights through booster clubs, attending our live performances and concerts, and highlighting the works of our student artists in unique ways throughout the community. Two businesses that stand out in their support for the arts are Iris Rubber in Cicero who proudly displays student artwork on the exterior of its building for residents and visitors to enjoy, and The Hamilton County Reporter, which has launched a yearlong Banner/Masthead Art project showcasing the work of Hamilton County elementary and middle school students. Winning selections (top 3 from each school) will be featured for one week a month on the front and inside of the paper (January-December) along with a photo and special press release. Pretty cool for all the young artists featured and an added bonus for readers. Hamilton Heights' artists will be featured in the paper this month and in April! Our student's involvement in the arts can be seen, heard, and felt in creative, imaginative, and colorful ways every day. The transformative power of the arts continues to shape the lives of our students, enrich the fabric of our community and is worthy of appreciation this month and throughout the year. Thank you for supporting our students' intellectual development through all things' art at Heights! #WeAreHuskies

Changes in Medicine

DICK WOLFSIE Funny Bone

I've had the same barber for 35 years. We've had the same housekeeper for almost 40 and our CPA was with us for over three decades until she retired, probably because she was sick of looking at my shoe box every April filled with receipts. I had the same dentist for decades, although as I think back, I have had several different teeth. Oh, and I have had the same wife for 44 years. But she has not suggested retiring. Yet.

All those still on the job would be tough to replace. And now, after about 25 years, my primary care physician is calling it quits. Many local MDs went to Dr. Kevin Coss for their personal health needs. Kevin was known as the doctor's doctor. You never hear that expression about other professions. I asked my plumber (who's been our plumber for 25 years) to tell me who in town is known as the "plumber's plumber." "Most plumbers fix their own plumbing," he told me. "Unless they have a reputation for not showing up on time. Then they call someone else." Don't worry, I don't know what that means either. When we first arrived in Indy my physician was Bob Palmer. He retired years ago and, sadly, has since passed away. Bob was a diminutive guy and when he wrote me an email, he signed it "Your dwarf internist." But don't sell him short, he was not only a superb practitioner but a WWII bomber pilot having flown over 70 missions. His office was decorated with photos of him in uniform standing by his plane. I preferred this décor to my urologist's office which is furnished with pictures of...well, let's just leave it at that. Dr. Bob once examined me and the nurse came in with a worried look. "Dr Palmer needs to see you right away." Shaking, I went back to his office. "You have Wisenheimer's disease," he told me. Still trembling, I asked what that was. "While examining you, I saw that you have on a black sock and blue sock, that's Wisenheimer's disease." I told him I had another pair of socks just like it at home. Bob was one of the few doctors who would come out to the waiting room and personally summon the next person into his office. A small commitment in his time, but a huge investment in the doctor/patient relationship. Once I noticed him watching a woman as she signed in for her appointment. He later told me that watching a person interact with another person was helpful for him in determining their social skills, which might assist him in his care for the patient. At the Community Hospital Annual Physicians Dinner, Bob always gave an award to the intern with the best handwriting, meaning one day a nurse or pharmacist could decipher what was written on the prescription pad. But now back to Dr Coss. Like Dr. Palmer, he put me at ease and spent a solid hour with me at my annual checkup. He always sat down with me during our conversations. So, I never felt like he was rushing through the examination. Over the years, he diagnosed at least three potentially serious issues and successfully treated or referred me elsewhere. Even during what I will call the year-long hypochondriacal period of my life, he was patient and understanding. Thanks, Kevin Coss. I hope retirement treats you well. Just like you treated all your patients.

Matthew Autry, Kennedy Cherry, Caleb Hazelwood, Isaac Kuhn, Kinley (Heights' ICAN service dog), Navaeh Smith, and Natalie Vann. All students nominated receive a certificate of recognition. At the end of the month, the names of the students who were nominated during the month are included in a drawing where the first five-to-seven names drawn are called down to the office to enjoy a hot chocolate or coffee and a donut. The monthly award objective is to encourage more acts of kindness, positivity, school spirit, and help foster a closer sense of community at the high school. Students and staff can nominate students. # A New Life for Felix

CARRIE CLASSON
The Postscript

Last night was surprisingly calm, all things considered. I told my husband, Peter, that he should not plan to get a good night's sleep. I told him this because Peter has never had a cat, and yesterday, we adopted one.

I have had several cats over the years, but my last cat, Lucy, died just a few months before I met Peter, 10 years ago. Peter has had dogs all his life and knows nothing about cats (which means every cat who has ever met him finds him fascinating). So we decided we would adopt a Mexican cat and take it to and from Mexico with us. Last Saturday, we had our first visit with Felix. Felix is an adolescent. He was a stray cat, so we don't know exactly how old he is, but the kind ladies who rescued him are guessing he is about 5 months old. Marsala and her sister, Elena, and Elena's daughter, Daniela, brought him over to visit. I thought, right then and there, Felix was a very well-behaved kitty. I expected him to be wild and scared in a new house. But he stretched out on the sofa and looked as if he might go to sleep. "What a mellow kitty!" I told them. "He is very relaxed," Elena said.

So after we had all the supplies we needed, they brought Felix to live with us. I could tell Daniela, who is 13 and wants to be a veterinarian, was a little sad. "Will you miss him?" I asked. Daniela nodded. But I showed her the new litter box and the carrier we bought to bring Felix back with us to the U.S., and his fluffy little bed and the two matching bowls I'd bought for him at the market. Daniela seemed to approve, and she left her little charge with us for his first night. He fell fast asleep—until the middle of the night. "What was that?" Peter asked. Peter sleeps with earplugs when we are in Mexico, but the noise outside our bedroom woke him. I went to investigate. It appeared there had been some small-scale vandalism in the night. The garbage can had been mysteriously overturned and bits of crumbled bread were all over the floor. "Oh, Felix!" I said. Felix came running to me and bumped his head against me. Then he circled around me as I cleaned up breadcrumbs, purring all the while. We fell back to sleep. A little later in the night, we heard meowing. It got louder and louder. Marcela and Elena rescue dogs and cats from the streets. At last count, they were caring for 11 dogs and three cats, so their house must be very lively. When Felix woke, there was no one in the room but him. I imagine it must have been a surprise, waking up all alone. "Felix!" I called. "We're in here!" Felix came running. He jumped up on the bed, discovered the two gringos under the covers and started purring again. So far, Felix seems to be happy in his new home. He has discovered that Peter keeps all sorts of interesting things on his bedside table that can be knocked off and played with in the middle of the night. He has discovered how easily the garbage can be tipped over and how much fun can be had with the contents. And he has discovered the two sleepy people in bed who—if things get too scary—can be relied upon to scratch his chin. I think Felix is liking his new life.

*Till next time,
Carrie*

Fun fact: The Noblesville Taste of Business was the inaugural opening-night event for the Embassy Suites in 2018. The Taste has been at the hotel ever since. "We have sold out the exhibit space each of the last seven years since we have partnered with the Embassy Suites to host Taste of Business - Made in Noblesville," DuBois said. He's proud that the event is a sell-out, usually far in advance of the event.

"We have 100 businesses and organizations showcasing themselves this year," he said. And there is always lots of food, hence the name "Taste of Business." This year, there are at least 17 tasting booths, including Bier Brewery & Tap Room (opening this spring in Noblesville), Nameless Catering, Perkins Restaurant, Janus' Capabilities Cafe, Chuy's Tex-Mex Restaurant, Chik-fil-A, BeeFree, NOM Catering, Primeval Brewing, The Nesst of Noblesville, Purgatory Golf Club, Good Time Beverages, RPM Pizza/Domino's Pizza, Tropical Smoothie Cafe, Outlaws Restaurant, Embassy Suites and Hotbox Pizza. Being that it's PI Day on March 14 around the world, there might be booths that serve pie, DuBois anticipated.

"We have several business exhibitors that also will provide samples, tastes, healthy snacks and sweets," he said. What does DuBois enjoy most about the Taste? "We love helping businesses prepare for the Taste, thinking through how they will present their business to our guests," he said. Also, DuBois said, "We love to hear residents' favorite Taste stories from previous years when they call or stop into our offices to purchase tickets." New businesses and perks, interesting food samples and more help keep the Taste fresh to entice the community. In celebration of the 2024 Total Solar Eclipse, the Chamber has partnered with Hamilton County Tourism to offer the first 500 guests free eclipse-viewing glasses and eclipse-viewing tip cards.

"We enjoy the chance to feature several new Noblesville businesses each year. The Taste is the perfect event to introduce a new business to the community," DuBois said. Twenty-five new businesses, organizations and individuals join this year's Taste of Business event in Noblesville. "We love watching business owners and managers get so excited about sharing their business story," he said. "We also like the unique way our guests are greeted and welcomed at the event. The (Embassy Suites) ballroom lobby is transformed into Artisan's Alley with local artists and musicians showcasing their creations. We lean on our friends from Noblesville Creates (formerly Nickel Plate Arts) to curate and coordinate our featured artists." # 2024 Kia Telluride Prestige X-Line Slays Dinner Dates

CASEY WILLIAMS
Auto Reviews

It's going to be one of those nights. My daughter's grandmother, who lives two hours away near Louisville, offered to take my family to dinner. Sounds yummy, but we'll need a comfortable ride to get across Indianapolis and travel an hour south on I65. Since my daughter needs to "slay", she would not arrive in a conveyance lacking class. Fortunately, our 2024 Kia Telluride Prestige X-Line looks like it was made by Rolls-Royce for surveying one's country estate.

Brash British Style

That may be a touch too far, but there is certainly a suave Britishness to the Telluride's design that looked ruggedly elegant whether posing in my driveway or dropping my daughter at the door. Echoing Kia's X-Pro trim that's fortified for true off-roading, X-Line gives the look without all the drama. Black window trim, mirror caps, grille, and 20" wheels lend a sinister look. The rounded box body shape with vertical LED headlamps, L-shaped taillamps, and side windows that hint at coach doors speak with a British accent. It's especially fetching in ghostly Wolf Gray.

It's difficult to imagine a more luxurious and stylish space in which to traverse an hour of asphalt for vittles. It feels quite upscale with black quilted Nappa leather seats, heated/ventilated front- and second-row seats, and heated steering wheel. Matte wood trim is fake, but looks and feels legit. While winter sun streamed through the dual pane sunroof, my daughter and I launched into a duet of Wonka songs sung through the Harman/Kardon premium audio system. Technology matches the luxury fittings. Dual panoramic 12.3" displays handle gauges and infotainment. They are slick and sleek, but also intuitive for linking phones through Apple CarPlay and Android Auto. Charge wirelessly in the console; conjure directions with navigation. A head-up display, surround view parking monitor, and blind spot monitors (camera displays in the gauge cluster) enhance safety – as does active crash avoidance tech that includes rear occupant alert with ultrasonic sensors, blind spot dash displays, and Safe Exit Assist to prevent passengers from stepping into traffic.

Smooth Powerful Driving

The powertrain is considerably less extravagant than a Rolls-Royce V-12, but gets the job done. Beneath the wide hood is a 3.8-liter V6 delivering 291 horsepower and 262 lb.-ft. of torque. It routes to the active all-wheel-drive system through an eight-speed automatic transmission. Add to that a self-leveling rear suspension and 5,500 lbs. towing capacity to enhance hauling capacity. Fuel economy rates 18/24-MPG city/highway. Whether clicking across city streets looking for freeway, or making time to hit our dinner date, there was ample power to shove the big three-row crossover whether carrying just a few people or a trailer. However, load up with six and their luggage and you may want a little more oomph. The four-wheel independent suspension carries the big wagon well, but is challenged when taming those big wheels over broken pavement. It handles well for what it is but is probably not the best choice for cutting apexes on country roads.

It may look like a six-figure Brit, but the Telluride provides much value for the dollar. Prices start at $36,190, rising to $54,540 exquisitely equipped for quick fancy drives to dinner. If that sounds too dear, but you like the Telluride's style, check out the smaller Sorento for $30,390 or the compact Sportage starting at $27,190. Full-size competitors include the Ford Explorer, Toyota Highlander, Honda Pilot, Chevy Traverse, Nissan Pathfinder, and similar Hyundai Palisade.

Storm Forward!

Heights Cheer Team Try Outs Set

If you are looking for a physical and mental challenge, enjoy being a vital part of pep rallies, and performances, and love supporting your fellow athletes, you are encouraged to be part of the Hamilton Heights cheer squads. The sport brings with it the best in athleticism, attitude, and entertainment and has been an integral part of Heights athletics for decades.

“At Heights, being a part of the cheer squad brings with it opportunities and responsibilities,” said Nikki Myrick, now in her 7th year of cheer coaching at HHMS. “Being a cheerleader takes dedication and a positive, energetic spirit. It requires practice, commitment, and leadership where members work together to grow their talent and sideline skills.”

Over the summer five HHMS 8th-grade cheer squad members kicked their skills up to the next level earning the title of All-American Cheerleader which gave them the opportunity to cheer at the Citrus Bowl. Three (Illiana Bowyer, Grace Reynolds, and Rylee Worland) traveled to Orlando and joined cheerleaders from around the country in practice and performance as part of the pregame festivities. Attending and participating at the Citrus Bowl was made possible thanks in part to Harber Exteriors, IBEW Local 1393, Reynolds Farm Equipment, Beck’s Hybrid, Black Sheep Ranch, 7P HVAC, Thomas Docks, and Heuer Homes. “Their generosity helped offset the costs involved in the trip,” said Myrick, who is deeply grateful for their interest and support. “It was a great experience for these girls to be a part of this incredible event,” Myrick added. “There was so much excitement and energy from being on the field to enjoying some great college football action.” Middle School cheer tryouts are set for today, Tuesday and Thursday. High School tryouts take place on March 18,19, and 21. For more information about cheer try-outs at HHMS, email Myrick at nmyrick1111@gmail.com. For more information about try-outs for the high school cheer team, email Coach Amanda Engle at aengle@hhschuskiess.org.

Residential Real Estate Still Hot

Both Noblesville and Hamilton County residential real estate markets enjoyed a strong February with inventory continuing to increase and homes selling at a steady pace. In Noblesville:

- The average sale price decreased 2.6 percent to $383,833; however, the average price per square foot increased, up 1.7 percent to $152.30.
- The number of closed home sales decreased 4.1 percent.
- Homes remained on the market one day longer than this time last year, selling in 44 days on average.

In Hamilton County for February:

- Available housing inventory increased 24.7 percent.
- The average sale price increased 4.1 percent to $486,520, which was

- the highest average home sale price in central Indiana in February.
- February pended home sales decreased 1.4 percent compared to this time last year.

All across central Indiana the residential real estate market was robust last month, according to information from the F.C. Tucker Company, part of the Howard Hanna family of companies: “A strong February residential real estate market bodes well for an active spring in central Indiana,” said Jim Litten, president of F.C. Tucker Company. “With mortgage interest rates remaining steady and inventory increasing, we can expect to see a robust market well into the first half of 2024.”
