The first round of Community Development Block Grants for 2024 is now open for applications. Funding for all CDBG programs comes from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and is administered by OCRA. The State of Indiana distributes CDBG funds to rural communities to assist units of local government with various community projects like improving infrastructure, downtown revitalization, public facilities improvements and economic development. Round 1 proposals are due by 11:59 p.m. on April 26. For further information on these programs, visit in.gov/ocra/cdbg.

On that day, the sky will darken for around 3 minutes as the moon passes between the sun and the earth.

In Noblesville, a partial eclipse will start at 1:51 p.m. The total eclipse begins at 3:06 p.m., reaches maximum totality at 3:08 p.m. and ends at 3:10 p.m. The entire show will be over at 4:23 p.m.

"Beyond my Constitutional duties, I will work for a positive agenda that makes Indiana a conservative leader in the country."

Beckwith's plan includes:

•Our children should not be indoctrinated with the woke agenda in our schools. Pronouns will be taught not reconfigured for a political agenda in the schools. As a father, no one is more committed to getting ·Hoosiers are hurting from inflation. Micah Beckwith believes that our state government must work to alleviate some of the financial pressure the Biden administration has caused. As our next Lt. Governor, he will push for tax cuts.

•Our government should work for us - not against us. To stop the expansion of state government, Micah Beckwith will work with the legislature to file legislation to require a sunset clause on state regulations. By sunsetting regulations, we will be limiting the power of government bureaucrats by requiring a review to make sure the regulations are still relevant.

this such a big deal is that it's been a VERY long time since any living creature witnessed the phenomenon in this area.

You may have read that the last time central Indiana was in the path of a total solar eclipse was the year 1205. Actually, according to a map on the Butler University website, that only applies to a relatively small triangle of land west/southwest of Indianapolis. It's been even longer for Hamilton County. The half of the county north of State Road 32 hasn't experienced a total solar eclipse since the year 957 and south of State Road 32, it was the year 831!

Obviously, no newspaper accounts of those eclipses exist, but the last total solar eclipse in this state took place over southwestern Indiana on August 7, 1869, which is the same year the Ledger then known as the Hamilton County Register started.

The Register published a report from a correspondent who rode an excursion train to Martinsville for the occasion. There, he joined several hundred people on a hill near the town to await "the glories of a total Once upon a time in this country, we welcomed the tired, the poor, the huddled masses yearning to breathe free. They went through a process that included a physical check of their well-being and an interview to make sure that immigrant was a good candidate to become an American citizen. And none of that was considered a bad thing. It was actually something we celebrated.

New Farm Bill Has Rural Communities Talking

CENTER for RURAL AFFAIRS

A new farm bill is top of mind for many farmers, ranchers, and rural community members. However, amidst the ongoing discussions and negotiations, another important conversation is beginning to unfold. In the weeks ahead, members of Congress will outline federal spending levels for 2025, including funding for programs that impact agriculture and small businesses.

After much delay, Congress passed its 2024 budget earlier this month to fund the federal government through Sept. 30. The bill came after a series of continuing resolutions to keep the government afloat to allow for negotiations to continue. In addition to tensions across party lines, Congress was working under spending caps established by the Fiscal Responsibility Act of 2023.

The bill, which resulted in roughly $26 billion for the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Food and Drug Administration, includes funding for several small but mighty programs with outsized benefits for rural communities.

For example, the Rural Microentrepreneur Assistance Program

distributes funding to intermediary lenders, such as the Center for Rural Affairs, who use the money to provide loans and technical assistance to small businesses in rural communities. In turn, these small businesses boost local economies and provide job opportunities on rural main streets across the country. The program received $5 million to continue this work in 2024, down from $6 million in 2023 and $6.5 million in 2022, but still a substantial amount.

Another program supported by annual appropriations is Conservation Technical Assistance (CTA). The funding allows USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service staff to work directly with farmers and ranchers implementing practices that improve soil health and water quality. CTA received roughly $773.5 million for 2024, a slight decrease from $800.9 million in 2023.

As planning for the 2025 budget begins this spring, Congress must be reminded of the return on investment that programs such as RMAP and CTA offer to rural communities and be encouraged to fund these programs in a more timely manner.

What's happening on our southern border is 'not a crisis, it's an invasion,' says Sen. Roger Marshall

by John Grimaldi

WASHINGTON DC --Senator, Dr. Roger Marshall [R-KS] says that what's happening at the Mexican border is not a crisis, it's an invasion and "the only thing we can do about it is to elect a new president. There are not enough laws in this land that would make Joe Biden secure the border." In a recent interview with Rebecca Weber, CEO of the Association of Mature American Citizens, on her Better For America podcast, he said "if he wanted to secure the border, he could have done it yesterday, last year or three years ago. So what we have to do is to get somebody different in the White House. It is that simple."

In fact, according to the Senator, Joe Biden "broke the law." The law says that if you are going to release illegal migrants, "you should be paroling them one person at a time. He's paroling them by the tens of thousands" and so far he's paroled some two million illegals. In addition, according to the House GOP. the Biden Administration "flew some 310,000 illegals into the country on secret flights in an effort to decrease the numbers of illegal migrant encounters at the Southern Border."

In a recent Fox News report, Senator Marshall declared that "Joe Biden has the power to secure our borders; instead, he has chosen to break the law, resulting in the worst border crisis in history. I do not know how Joe Biden sleeps at night knowing terrorists, CCP nationals, cartels, and worse are living here in the interior of our country."

In his Better For America, he said that his resolution to declare an invasion at the southern border aims to reaffirm state sovereignty, "their constitutional rights to protect themselves.

Some 10 million people have crossed our border illegally. That sounds like an invasion to me and that empowers governors to do whatever they can to secure their borders, as opposed to the fights that we've seen between Joe Biden and Texas. Can you believe we're sitting here and having this discussion? I can't believe that I have to fight for Texas to be allowed to defend itself. If Joe Biden won't do it, for crying out loud, let the Texans defend themselves." However, he added, "the Democrats and Joe Biden want these 10 million people crossing the border so that they'll vote for their party in the future ... everybody should be concerned because it's already happening. There are statewide efforts, community wide efforts in blue states where they are trying to make sure that these illegals get to vote."

· Indiana should join the growing list of states passing the resolution for Congressional Term Limits. As the Chairman of Indiana's U.S. Term Limits and our next Lt. Governor, Micah Beckwith will work with the legislature to get the resolution passed.

·Indiana has been proactive in stopping the illegal immigration crisis unlike New York and Massachusetts. However, the federal government is not doing their job in Indiana. As our next Lt. Governor, Micah will also work with our federal delegation to ensure that ICE agents can do their jobs in Indiana.

•Our rights are nonnegotiable. As a Constitutionalist, Micah Beckwith promises to always protect our rights. He will push for legislation to allow law abiding gun owners to carry guns without concealed gun permits.

·Children must be protected from the woke agenda that advocates for mutilation. As a father, Micah considers protecting the next generation of the utmost importance. He will support legislation that bans gender transition surgery and puberty blockers for children under the age of 18.

During these turbulent times, the people of Indiana deserve a Lt. Governor who is more than a ceremonial appointment. I will be a proactive Lt. Governor," said Beckwith. "For months, I have been meeting with leaders, experts and voters regarding the needs of our state. Knowing that our next Governor will have their hands full, I am putting forth this plan to help be part of the solution for creating a bright future for Hoosiers."

"Our way of life is being threatened from within by the woke culture which is infiltrating every aspect of our lives and attempting to alter our value system. We are going to need both a Governor and Lt. Governor fighting to restore common sense and preserve our rights. My plan will help protect our children for generations to come," said Beckwith. Beckwith has been traveling the state since last summer talking and recruiting delegates. He considers it a long job interview with the people and this plan is the next step in the process.

Beckwith is a proud father, devoted husband, pastor and small business owner. He and his wife, Susan, and their 2 children have been serving Hamilton County and surrounding areas for over 15 years. He is a graduate of Huntington University with a degree in business and economics. Currently, Beckwith teaches a high-school constitutional literacy class for a Christian school in Carmel. He also co-hosts the popular podcast "Jesus, Sex and Politics" with Pastor Nathan Peternel.

Beckwith is an inspirational speaker and has served as the keynote speaker for several not-for-profit and community groups and over the past year has toured the state as an advocate for healthcare freedom. He currently serves in leadership positions for several organizations, including: Noblesville Campus Pastor for Life Church, Executive Director of Indiana Family Action PAC, Co-Founder of Indiana Coalition Conservatives, Indiana Chairman of U.S. Term Limits, and Executive Director of Hoosier Leadership Series.

Indiana Provides Educators Opportunity to Earn Literacy Endorsement

The Indiana Department positively impact of Education recently announced that eligible educators can now enroll in a free professional development course designed to help them earn Indiana's Literacy Endorsement. Eligible educators will receive up to $1,200 in stipends for completion of the course.

"For the first time ever, Indiana educators can add a literacv endorsement to their existing license, and the state has provided a way for educators to earn this distinction free of charge while also earning a stipend for their time spent completing the course," said Dr. Katie Jenner, Indiana Secretary of Education. "The literacy endorsement, created by state law in 2023, provides educators with • tools focused on evidence-based instruction rooted in science of reading, ensuring more students across the state gain essential literacy skills necessary for future success."

This course, tailored specifically for Indiana educators, is certified by the International Dyslexia Association and is aligned to Indiana Academic Standards and science of reading. By participating, educators will continue to improve upon existing knowledge allowing for enhanced instructional practices in the fundamental elements of early reading and writing.

Indiana educators who hold an active Pre-K through grade six or special education license are invited to enroll in the newlydeveloped course, offered by Keys to Literacy. The free course will be available through June 2025. The program's instructional practices are designed to seamlessly integrate into classroom lessons with any curriculum or published literacy program.

THE TIMES

Funding is allocated in the state's biennial budget to allow educators to enroll in the 80-hour course, participate in the Praxis licensing exam, and, ultimately, earn the Indiana Literacy Endorsement. Following completion of the exam, beginning in August 2024, educators can apply to add the literacy endorsement to their license. Additional information will be available this spring for educators who have completed the necessary 80-hour professional development on science of reading through a different provider.

To support schools and educators, as well as parents and families in preparing students with foundational reading skills, Indiana continues to make historic investments in literacy, totaling over $170 million. Below are examples of how this investment continues to to immediately know if a child is on-track or at-risk when it comes to mastering foundational literacy skills.

- Awarded the Expanding What Works grant to four regional partners serving over 3,000 students to increase access to high-quality summer programming providing supplemental literacy and math instruction using evidence-based strategies.
- Provided $10 million in cash stipends to teachers. instructional coaches and other school staff at all corporations and charter schools who are responsible for the implementation and delivery of early literacy and reading instruction through the Literacy Achievement Grants.
- Increased the implementation of evidence-based instructional practices for over 65,000 students across Indiana through the Competitive Science of Reading grant, which awarded nearly $15 million to 72 school corporations. This is in addition to the multiple other initiatives supporting science of reading.

eclipse lasted, it was dark enough to see several stars, although the correspondent observed that "there was not darkness like night, for over sky and earth was a soft light that tinted all and painted the horizon in such colors as we may not hope to see until there is a 'new Heaven and a new earth' . . . "

He added – to his disgust – that the minute sunlight started to return, everyone there began dashing downhill into town, like modern concert goers leaving early to beat the rush.

The awe-inspiring spectacle had quickly become less important than finding a good seat on the train for the return journey. The Register's correspondent used smoked glass to view the eclipse, but that's not recommended today. Instead, you'll need special eclipse glasses or solar viewers marked "ISO 12312-2." That indicates the glasses or viewers meet international safety standards.

To make sure your glasses have been properly tested and aren't counterfeits, visit NASA's website, to check their list of safe suppliers.

Of course, you can always play it safe by viewing the progress of the eclipse indirectly using items like a colander or a pinhole projector.

The NASA website has instructions for doing that, as well as answers to most of the other questions you might have about the coming eclipse. (They've got some impressive graphics, too.) For local eclipse information - events, souvenirs, glasses and eclipse prep, etc. check out https://www.visithamilt oncounty.com/eclipse/. (There's even a countdown clock!) If you miss this eclipse, you'll be out of luck for a long time. The next total solar eclipse visible in the continental United States won't take place until 2044 and you'll have to travel near the Canadian border of Montana or North Dakota in order to see it.

It's an issue that needs attention across the board, Senator Marshall said. "We need to stand up at every level, at the local level, all the way up to the federal level. I think it's great that you're reaching out to your Congress members and your Senators. But I think it's equally important that you reach out to your state officers, your state representatives, your state senators, the governor, the secretary of state. All those people need to understand that you need to be a United States citizen to vote in American elections. It's that simple. The Constitution tells us the time. the manner and the place of elections shall be controlled at the state level. So I think it's just all the more important that you reach out to local officials and that you don't let them tell you, it's just a citywide election or it's just a county wide election. It's a very slippery slope once you see that happening. So yes, everyone should be very concerned."
