Three Things You Should Know

- 1 Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita is challenging a U.S. Department of Health and Human Services rule as part of a new lawsuit that seeks to force medical providers to perform surgeries and administer hormones to both children and adults for the purpose of gender transition. The rule redefines the Affordable Care Act's prohibition against discrimination on the basis of "sex" to include "gender identity." The rule deems doctors guilty of discrimination for hewing to the scientifically grounded reality that males and females have different anatomies and physiologies that require different kinds of care.
- 2 U.S. farmers' outlook improved in May as the Purdue University/CME Group Ag Economy Barometer index rose to 108, marking a 9-point increase from April. Both of the barometer's subindices saw increases, with the Index of Future Expectations climbing 11 points to 117 and the Current Conditions Index rising 6 points.
- 3 The Department of Natural Resources is looking for volunteers to help at the Fishin' Pond at the Indiana State Fair, which runs Aug. 2-18. Volunteers receive a free parking pass, State Fair entry for the days worked, and a DNR volunteer T-shirt. For more information, go to bit.ly/FishinPond Volunteer.

By The Numbers, a look at what's in the news . . . by the numbers. These are just numbers, not suggestions that they mean more or less than what they are. We do not suggest that one number is connected to another. These are simply facts with no extraneous details, bias or slanted reporting. To borrow (and perhaps mangle a bit) a quote from legendary fictional detective Joe Friday, it's just the numbers, ma'am!

Father's Day By The Numbers

6-16-24

That's the day we set aside to celebrate dear old Dad! When did Father's Day begin, you ask? Well, there are several things it can be traced to, but in the U.S. it got its start in 1910 out in the state of Washington. However, it took another 14 years until President Calvin Coolidge prodded the states to adopt the celebration. Some did, some didn't. And then, it was not until Richard Nixon's time in the oval office that the day became a national holiday. That year was 1972 - and Dad's everywhere are glad Tricky Dick got it done before he skedaddled out of the White House.

72,000,000

On average, that's how many Father's Day cards are sent each year.

3rd

The third Sunday in June is the day we celebrate Dads. So don't worry about remembering the date. It changes.

$22,400,000,000

Yup, that's Billion with a capital B. That's how much money is being projected to be spent on gifts for Dad this year. Who knew an ugly tie could cost that much! (By the way, that's projected to be down from last year's $22.9 billion!)

25-34

That's the average age of the biggest spenders for Dad. Good for this cross section of Millennials and Gen Z!

$196

Speaking of spending, that's the average amount each consumer is spending on Dad this year. And even though the overall numbers are down a bit, this is a fair amount higher than the $174 that was spent last year!

No. 1

That's the spot all Dad's (and all Mom's) occupy in our hearts!

Only Daughter Graduates As Mom Turns 60 Today

The Times journalist Betsy Reason's daughter, Addie, celebrates graduation last Tuesday with the Noblesville High School Class of 2024 at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum.

BETSY REASON
Columnist

I now have a 2024 Noblesville High School graduate in my household.

Our one and only child, daughter, Addie, who celebrated her 18th birthday in May, turned her tassel and graduated from high school last Tuesday night at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum in Indianapolis. Graduation hasn't taken place at the high school since June 6, 2014, due to a growing Noblesville.

It was the first time I had ever attended graduation at the Coliseum. We dropped off Addie just before 1:30 p.m. for NHS Singers' senior song rehearsal, which was followed by commencement practice, photographer time, a provided sandwich of meat or peanut butter and jelly, and then the graduation ceremony.

When we arrived for the ceremony at 4:40 p.m., there were already hundreds of people in line, including many camped out in lawn chairs, anticipating the doors opening at 5:30 p.m. for the first-come, first-served seating. Then once inside, it was another 90 minutes until introduction of the Class of 2024 by class sponsor Rich Harden.

All NHS graduates who walked sported a black-and-gold twisted cord with tassels on both ends. Graduates also displayed a lot of other cords -- 13 different cords representing an array of honors -- worn by the

NHS Teacher Honored by Rose-Hulman

One of Ken Dollaske's former students, Vincent Hammer, nominated the NHS teacher for the award.

Noblesville High School physics teacher Ken Dollaske received the Samuel F. Hulbert Outstanding Teacher Award from Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology (Terre Haute, Indiana) during the college's recent Honors and Awards Ceremony. Making the recognition more special for Dollaske is that it came from a nomination submitted by one of his former students, Vincent Hammer, a Rose-Hulman optical engineering major.

Dollaske was recognized for having a profound influence on his students, particularly Hammer, who vividly recalls how Dollaske's teaching altered his academic trajectory.

"His classes were engaging and practical, focused on enlightening the way the world works and applying concepts to real, observable phenomena in a way that far exceeds the standard for high school physics courses," Hammer explained.

This dedication has yielded impressive results, including exceptional pass rates on Advanced Placement exams and numerous students advancing to prestigious STEM programs, like Rose-Hulman. Dollaske also demonstrates a commitment to his students' overall success and well-being. Hammer praises his teacher's holistic approach.

"He exemplifies a well-rounded life that is inspiring for students and shows the value of a strong brain and a healthy body," stated the former student.

Dollaske's influence and teachings still resonate with Hammer, helping him succeed in advanced college courses at the nation's top-ranked college for undergraduate science, engineering, and mathematics education.

"In EMag last quarter, I got a perfect score on the introductory concept check, which far exceeded my expectations, despite the fact that I had not covered that material in any capacity in three years," Hammer stated. "I cannot think of a teacher I have encountered who has had a larger influence on the path I have taken and the life I live. Somehow shockingly, I don't believe my experience is unique."

The award is named for Hulbert, who served as Rose-Hulman's president for 28 years and was a dedicated teacher in the fields of ceramics science and biomaterials.

Heights Superintendent Wraps Up Year

DR. ARROWOOD
Guest Columnist

Now that we have reached the end of another successful year, I wanted to take a moment to express my heartfelt appreciation for all your support and dedication throughout the academic year. It has been a year filled with remarkable achievements, growth, and countless memorable moments.

A special part of bringing the school year to a close is our annual End of Year Employee Recognition Breakfast. This tradition, nearly 30 years strong, draws in a full house of current and past staff to celebrate service milestones, special recognitions, and honor our retiring personnel.

I would like to extend our deep appreciation to our 2024 retirees for their more than 200 years of collective service to the district. Each played a vital and valuable role impacting the lives of countless students and families. They selflessly gave of themselves for the advancement of students and helped make a difference in a child's life every day. We wish you all the best in the next chapter of your lives.

HHHS: Kim Kaiser (Business Teacher, 25), Cyndi Morse (Registrar, 10), Debbie Reeves (English Teacher, 30), and Dee Roper (Instructional Assistant, 7)
HHMS: John Walsh (5th Grade Teacher, 32)
HHES: Joyce Sowers (Title 1 Instruction Assistant, 10)
Food Service: Kay Davis (ES Café Worker, 28), Patty Hicks (Director, 28), and Karen Versprille (ES Café Worker, 20)
Transportation: Jeff Hasty (Bus Driver, 13)

Emilie Carson, HHHS Agriculture Teacher/FFA Sponsor, has been selected as our Teacher of the Year. She was among three outstanding professionals from the district nominated as the top pick for their building for this year's recognition. Carson will represent HHSC at the state Teacher of the Year competition in Indianapolis in the fall. In addition to Carson, this year's building nominees included: Heather Greider (HHMS 5th Grade Teacher) and Melissa Martin (HHES Technology Integration Specialist). Our Support Staff of the Year honorees include Krystal Hickman (HHHS Instructional Assistant), Kristi Moe (HHMS Secretary), and Erin Hileman (HHES Head Custodian). Congratulations!

Speaking of congratulations, I would like to give a shout out to Andrew Morrison (HHHS '24) who was among eight finalists for the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs' Youth Service Award; Peyton McQuinn (HHHS '24) who won the state championship in the pole vault competition at 16'3"; and to our softball team who won their second sectional championship in a row and brought home their first regional title since 2016. Congratulations!

Looking ahead to next school year, as per Indiana State Law, students are required to be up to date with their immunizations (for all grades, but specifically in grades Kindergarten, 6th, and 12th) by the 20th day of school to avoid exclusion on day 21 (September 4, 2024). If you have a student attending Hamilton Heights this fall, getting state-mandated vaccinations just got easier. The Hamilton County Health Department will be hosting a back-to-school vaccination clinic at Hamilton Heights Middle School from 1 - 6 p.m. as part of the Middle School Husky Connect Day.

Remember, education is not confined to the walls of a classroom. Learning happens everywhere, every day, and the world is your classroom. No matter where you are and what you are doing, seize the opportunity to grow, learn, and make a positive impact. Stay curious and stay connected. Have a great summer! #WeAreHuskies

Deb Mansfield Named Husky Hero

Deb Mansfield, Spanish teacher, Hamilton Heights High School, has been named the Husky Hero for the month of April. Mansfield, who is in her sixth year at Heights, is known for helping her students to experience "life" as individuals who are seen, known, and valued. This is a driving factor in her motivation to teach at Heights. It is her intention to be attentive to the lives of her students, to create and cultivate space for students to know they are priceless, to ignite their potential, and to provide opportunities for them to see their personal strengths so they can contribute to the world and make it a better place.

"Please consider Mrs. Debra Mansfield as the husky hero of the month, as my family considers her as our hero," said Sara Smith. "Our daughter struggled figuring out her way in life as a freshman this year. She felt so conflicted socially, emotionally, and spiritually that it seemed like she didn't even know who she was anymore. Mrs. Mansfield was the light in the darkness for her. Whenever she went to school, Mrs. Mansfield was always so loving, supportive, and reassuring for our daughter. In addition to being a major impact in school, Debra was also a significant role model through her involvement with Young Life. Our daughter now says that her favorite day of the week is Thursday, because she gets to spend time with Debra and the Young Life group on that day. After this semester, we are in awe of how happy and motivated our daughter is, and we owe that to Mrs. Mansfield. Mahatma Gandhi said that "a true hero is not defined by their strength, but by their ability to inspire and lead others." That is exactly what Mrs. Debra Mansfield is: a (husky) hero."

"Hamilton Heights has allowed me to work with some very talented, caring, and overall exceptional people who have played a major role in my life these past few years," said Deb Mansfield. "The kindness and patience I have received from staff and students at HHHS is something that I, too, want to reciprocate to others. Therefore, to be nominated and selected as a Husky Hero is a reflection of those I work with. It is also a gift that I will cherish and not take for granted."

"The Husky Hero award will serve as a reminder to me that what I do in and out of my classroom matters," Mansfield added. "It will inspire me to continue to reach out to my students in every way possible."

"The constant theme with our Husky Hero winners is that they connect with students really well; Debra is no different," added Jarrod Mason, Principal, Hamilton Heights High School. "She has a huge heart, and she gets to know her students and connects with them in many ways. I think that really speaks to why she won this award."

Do you know a Husky Hero? Nomination forms and information about this special recognition program for Hamilton Heights employees are available at: <https://bit.ly/hhschuskyhero>. The Husky Hero Recognition program is made possible through the Hamilton Heights Educational Foundation in partnership with Craig and Amber Bowen (FC Tucker). #hhedfoundation

Conservative Candidates Launch Bid for School Board

Three Noblesville residents recently filed to become candidates for the Noblesville School Board. Dave Dawson, Alison Hanley and Brad Helvey have agreed that academic mastery, fiscal stewardship and greater transparency between the school district and parents/taxpayers are their points of focus.

taxpayers, while simultaneously, ensuring that proper resources are in place for students and teachers. They believe this balance is integral to an exemplary school district. They plan to press for greater transparency in the fiscal/budgeting process and to provide detailed information for all proposed referendums and infrastructure projects.

According to a press release, the three agree that a rigorous and positive learning environment clearly focused on academics will foster greater improvement in academic proficiency for Noblesville students. The release said they believe students can rise to the learning and achievement levels of the highest scoring schools in the county, and the state of Indiana.

The release said that all three candidates are committed to open communication between the schools parents, and taxpayers in matters regarding curriculum, academic policy, health and extracurricular activities and the handling of taxpayer money.

The candidates maintain that proper fiscal stewardship involves accountability to Noblesville

As an older parent -- I gave birth to her just before my 42nd birthday -- I feel most fortunate to have a daughter who just turned legal only 18 days before I turn 60 today at 6:50 p.m.

She is an only child as am I. And she keeps me young.

And I must say that when I cry, it is not tears of sadness but happy tears of all of the joy that she has brought us through her many accomplishments, her laughter and smiles, and the fact that I'm waking up everyday pinching myself that she's my daughter.

On graduation night, I was sad thinking that this would be the last time that all of these graduates would be together and the last time that we would ever see most of these families.

But now, as parents, we can all say we've done our jobs. We cry tears of joy that we've raised our children to go on out in this great big world and do more great things.

Congratulations class of 2024.

-Betsy Reason writes about people, places and things. Contact The Times editor Betsy Reason at betsy@thetimes24-7.com.

graduating seniors. In fact, in the 20-page program, a key offered the meaning of each cord, from the gold cord representing Summa Cum Laude, to the green cord representing multilingual proficiency.

Our daughter graduated with an Academic Honors Diploma and on the day before graduation learned that she would be graduating Cum Laude, graduating with a minimum 3.5 cumulative grade point average on a 4.0 scale over her four years of high school, and enjoying the right to wear a white cord at graduation. She also wore the International Thespian Society blue and gold cords and the Tri-Music Honor Society pink cord.

She joined fellow NHS senior show choir members to sing "The Human Heart" during the 149th commencement ceremony, just after class officers and selected students delivered well-spoken practiced speeches. Noblesville Schools Superintendent Daniel Hile presented the Class of 2024. And just after the presentation of diplomas, there was a rushed turning of the tassels, followed by a "Triumphal March" recessional.

The Class of 2024 had 783 graduates who earned a reported $5 million in scholarships and awards, according to NHS principal Craig McCaffrey.

We are proud to say our daughter was among the scholarship award winners.

Being that she was a senior this year, I often get asked how I feel, if I've cried a lot, or if I am sad.

You know, I cried when Addie was born, on her first day of kindergarten, her last day of fifth grade in elementary school, when she got the lead of Annie in her middle school play, and on the final night of her school concerts and at many other glorious times in between.

Making Pickles

CARRIE CLASSON
The Postscript

My Aunt Ruthie used to make the best pickles ever.

Ruthie was my mom's sister, and she died a few years back in a car accident that left us all sad and shaken and filled with memories. I remember her dry humor and her sharp intellect and her voracious reading habits. I remember her never-ending kindness and resilience. And I remember her pickles.

Ruthie always gave me a jar of pickles whenever she made them. They were a treasure. One year, the glass Mason jar filled with pickles broke in my purse, and having a vinegar-soaked purse was inconsequential compared to the fear I might waste Aunt Ruthie's pickles. (I did not.)

I remember when I was young, my cousin was reading something I thought was stupid. (I had a lot of opinions back then about what was stupid.) I remember what Ruthie said to me.

"It doesn't matter what she's reading," Ruthie said. "What's important is that she's reading something." I felt a little ashamed, I remember, and I knew Ruthie was right.

And this was rare, a reprimand coming from Ruthie, which is why I remember the next one she gave me 30 years later.

I saw her, and she had not made pickles. Maybe the cucumbers had not cooperated. Maybe Ruthie was working on other things. Maybe she just lost interest in supplying every relative in her large family with pickles. A person does not need a reason not to make pickles, and yet I felt Aunt Ruthie owed me an explanation.

"Someone as good at making pickles as you should make pickles!" I told her.

"Someone as good at performing as you should perform," she answered, without missing a beat.

This took me aback for a few reasons. The first, as I mentioned, was that Ruthie was always generous with her praise and sparing with her criticism. The second was that I had been a performer for years and was now working in business, which everyone seemed to think was a lot more practical.

And the last reason was that I honestly never thought I had a gift for performing. I enjoyed it. I became comfortable doing it. I worked hard at it so I could keep up with those better than me. But I never thought I was anything special.

This was a long time ago. I eventually left business and started writing. Writing gives me an enormous amount of joy. Like the performing I did earlier, it's a way to connect with other people and, also like performing, I know I am not nearly as good as so many other writers.

But recently I got to thinking about performing again.

At first, I dismissed the idea. I was too busy writing. I had tried once before, right before the pandemic, and nobody got to see anyone perform for a long time. And finally, who wants to see a 60-something-year-old woman on stage? Performing is work best left to the young, I told myself.

But the idea grew as I waited for weeks that turned into months for a book to be sold. I thought what a wonderful feeling it would be to perform again, to do something I had some control over, to do something fun.

My performances will never rival Ruthie's pickles. She really had a gift. But I have an opportunity to do a show this fall, and I am going to take it. I am always telling people to do what they love, after all. I figure if you get a chance to make pickles, you should.

Till next time,
Carrie

Key to Getting Started

DICK WOLFSIE
Funny Bone

A few years back, I told the story of my car starting. I know this does not sound very interesting, but there was more to it. My Elantra does not require a key. Instead, it has a fob and a push button on the dash. I had accidentally left the little doohickey on the kitchen counter, but when I got in the car and pushed the ignition button, the car roared into action. How could that be?

As my auto technician explained to me that day, my extra fob had to be somewhere in the car. And sure enough, I did find the little rascal hiding in a corner of the seat, lodged in a nest of cookie crumbs, pretzel pieces and pen tops.

Last month, a new issue arose. I was late for an appointment, but my car was in the shop so I had to borrow Mary Ellen's Prius. She came home late, so I waited for her in the driveway. We quickly switched seats when she arrived, with the car still idling. And off I went. On the way to my destination, the dashboard flashed a little advisory note:

THERE IS NO KEY FOB IN THE VEHICLE

How could that be? I was driving, wasn't I? Yes, I was driving, but Mary Ellen still had the key fob in her purse. That meant when I turned off the car, I wouldn't be able to start it again. Of course, I could call Mary Ellen to come get me after I finished my meeting, but she didn't have her car. I had it. Okay, I could leave the car running while I went to my appointment, but we'd probably be short another car when it was stolen. I turned around and drove back home. I then unfairly blamed Mary Ellen for this predicament. But she had a good explanation: OOPS!

But there were more key issues. Last week I somehow lost my duplicate fob, again. I looked everywhere. This time I knew it wasn't in the car because the Hyundai would not start. But how can you lose a car key? If I left the key fob somewhere I wouldn't have been able to drive home, but here I was. So that meant it had to be in the house.

I have been looking for that extra device for a month. I even asked Al: How do I find a lost key fob? The advice made me question the word "intelligence" in the abbreviation AI. I was hoping to learn of some intricate GPS system that was embedded in the fob. Instead, they told me to retrace my steps. DUH. Then they suggested looking in my drawers. Did that mean in my pants pockets or next to my underwear and socks?

I called my friend who helped me last time I had car issues ...

"Hi, Bob."

"Hey, Dick, what's the prob?"

"I need help finding my fob."

"I'll take the job."

He was busy so I called him again later that day for further advice. He must have spent all day thinking of a funny line...

"FOBS ARE US."

"Ha, ha. Any suggestions, Bob?"

"Yes, return to the dealership and buy a new fob, but don't get robbed."

"That will cost me a lot of money, Bob."

"Better call Schwab."

Heights' Etchison Signs With Marian

Tillman Etchison, Hamilton Heights' senior, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball for Marian University in Indianapolis. Marian is a member of the Crossroads League and is a NAIA athletic institution. He is the son of Tony and Toby Etchison.

Marian University was the top pick for Etchison. He said they have an amazing business program, it's close to home and it allows him the opportunity to play with his brother, Gus. Etchison plans to study business management and pursue a career in finance.

Etchison, who was also a member of Hamilton Heights Unified Football team, holds the school record for the most basketball assists. He was named to the All Hamilton County Team for two years, first team all-conference for three years, Indiana Basketball Coaches Association Top 60, IBCA Scholarship recipient Top 100 his junior year and third team All State.

"Ever since I was young, I loved basketball," said Etchison, who practices constantly and trains at M14 Hoops. He credits his father as the most influential person in his life in everything he does.

"I am really excited for Tillman getting this opportunity to play at the next level," said Chad Ballenger, Hamilton Heights varsity boys basketball coach. "He is going to be able to play a true point guard position and excel at it. He leaves high school as our single game assist school record holder, and I look forward to watching him do the same at Marian. He has played the last two years for us with a lot of injuries, and I can't wait to see him get healthy and how far his game will grow. He has put a lot of time into his game and deserves this opportunity."

"Tillman has played a very important role in the boys basketball program the past four years," added Kurt Ogden, Hamilton Heights High School athletic director. "His strengths and skillset have provided the team with additional scoring and ball handling and those skills will be sorely missed next year. We're very happy that Tillman gets the opportunity to continue to play the sport he loves at Marian University."

When Etchison is not in the classroom or on the court, he can be found working on the family farm or golfing. He is also a member of the board for his father's foundation, the Tony Etchison Memorial Foundation. "I am looking forward to the next four years at Marian and the journey ahead," Etchison added.

Redesigned 2025 Subaru Forester Reaches for Horizons, But Pack Your Patience

CASEY WILLIAMS
Auto Reviews

Have you ever been to Montana? As I found for my first visit recently, it's a big place – the kind of wide open, horizon-to-horizon, nestling mountains, and wide-open Interstates kind of place where you just want to drive, drive, and drive. Turns out, it was the perfect place to meet the redesigned 2025 Subaru Forester.

Given that backdrop, it looks on the nose with a more wind-swept face wearing squinty headlamps that run from grille to fenders. It's further distinguished by deep fender sculpting over available 19" wheels and taillamps that extend across the liftgate. It's difficult to make a box look sleek, but designers did their best and it's a more handsome vehicle for the effort. There are two exhaust covers, but there's only one tailpipe, so contain your excitement.

No matter your aesthetic, there's a trim level with the right vibe. Drivers who just want a durable crossover with all-wheel-drive buy the Base, but those craving more progress through Premium, Sport, Limited, and Touring trims. I especially like the Sport that's enhanced by bronze accents and wipe-down faux leather seats. Touring editions conjure all the kit: Brown leather, Harman Kardon audio, digital rearview camera, wireless phone charging, and foot-activated power rear gate, and heated seats all-around.

Unless you go Base, passengers confront a 11.6" tablet-style screen. Easily connect phones wirelessly through Apple CarPlay or Android Auto. Proper knobs for volume and tuning are appreciated. Dual-zone automatic climate control, power sunroof, ventilated front seats, a heated steering wheel are optional. It's probably time for Subaru to offer a digital dash, at least in Sport and Touring models, but there's no beating the clarity of big analog gauges.

Smooth, Capable, and Patient

Enjoy the scenery because it'll be in your view awhile. On paper, the 2.5-liter horizontally-opposed "Boxer" four-cylinder engine produces 180 horsepower and 178 lb.-ft. of torque – plenty for a crossover this size, yet the continuously variable transmission requires patience to send power through the standard all-wheel-drive system. Clicking paddles to shuffle through eight pre-set gear ratios helps. Expect 25/32-MPG city/highway

Even on wide open Montana highways, I looked for straight downhill segments with plenty of space before passing. Pulling into traffic going uphill takes nerves, as may accelerating onto freeways back home where highways are as flat as a griddle. I will say, though, that once up to speed, the ride is serenely comfortable. There's very little wind noise and only under hard acceleration do you hear more than a murmur from the engine.

It's remarkably capable too, given 8.7" of ground clearance and X-Mode that adjusts for terrain conditions and can even creep down steep includes. Enjoy a smoother ride and less steering vibration over rough roads. I spent most of my time in the Touring with softer suspension, but choose the Sport for a more engaging feel.

Subaru ace crash tests, but the new 3-camera EyeSight system provides adaptive cruise, automatic braking, lane keep assist, and can even steer around objects in an emergency. Rear cross path detection, safe exit assist, and blind spot warning systems are available too. It can even slow the vehicle should the driver become incapacitated.

Happy Trails

Subaru didn't have to redesign the Forester as the nameplate posted its best-ever sales month during March. Since the automaker knows its customers well, I think they're going to be very happy with the new Forester whether crossing wide-open Montana, taming Dallas traffic, or slicing Indiana cornfields. To keep it affordable, Base models start at just $29,695, rise through the Sport at $34,495, and tap out with the Touring's $39,995.

Storm Forward!

Westfield Schools Announce Retirees

Westfield Washington Schools proudly announces the retirement of 12 dedicated teachers and two unwavering instructional assistants, whose collective 305 years of service have significantly shaped our district and community.

These remarkable educators have not only imparted knowledge and inspired countless students but have also become integral members of our Westfield Washington Schools family. Their commitment to excellence in education and their relentless dedication to our students have left an indelible mark on our hearts and in our community.

The retirees include:

- Tammy Drummond (Westfield Intermediate School) Bookkeeper - 22 years of service
- Cindy Gritton (Central Office) Admin Asst for Student Services - 24 years of service
- Jo Ann Neff (Central Office) Operations Assistant - 19 years of service
- Carolyn Wood (Washington Woods Elementary School) 2nd Grade Teacher - 28 years of service
- Jennifer Paul (Oak Trace Elementary School) Music Teacher - 23 years of service
- Jacqueline Hiatt (Oak Trace Elementary School) 2nd Grade Teacher - 15 years of service
- Diana Callahan (Oak Trace Elementary School) 2nd Grade Teacher - 21 years of service
- Michelle Foster (Westfield Intermediate School) Special Education Teacher - 25 years of service
- Steve Stafford (Westfield Intermediate School) Special Education Teacher - 11 years of service

- Christine Hofeling (Virginia F. Wood Early Learning Center) Speech & Language Pathologist - 37 years of service
- Mark Sands (Westfield High School) Band/Music Teacher - 26 years of service
- Robert Lonsinger (Westfield High School) Math Teacher - 9 years of service
- Tonya Coy - Instructional Assistant at WMS & Job Coach with The Shamrock Project - 24 years of service
- Janet Schuetter - Instructional Assistant at OTES - 21 years of service

“The impact of these dedicated educators extends far beyond the classroom,” Superintendent Dr. Paul Kaiser said. “Their commitment and passion have helped shape the lives of our students and have enriched our school community. We are immensely grateful for their service and wish them all the best in their well-deserved retirements.”

“We believe in the power of community and the importance of every member of our staff,” said Assistant Superintendent for HR Chris Baldwin. “We are not just colleagues; we are a family. The dedication and camaraderie shared by our retiring staff members is proof. They have supported one another, mentored new educators, and contributed to the collaborative spirit that defines our district.”

As we bid farewell to these exceptional educators, we extend our deepest gratitude for their years of service and their unwavering commitment to our students and our school community. Their contributions will be remembered and cherished, and their presence will be greatly missed.

Product Recalls Listed for May

Attorney General Todd Rokita is alerting Hoosiers of important consumer protection concerns for products recalled in May. The office encourages consumers to take advantage of opportunities available for those who purchase recalled items that could be harmful to their families.

“Summer is in full swing, and that means you and your family will be spending more time outdoors,” Rokita said. “Don’t let the beautiful weather be ruined by an outdoor item breaking down. If you have one of the recalled products, stop using it immediately and pursue resolution from the manufacturer immediately.”

According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the following consumer products were recalled in May:

- Crib Bumpers Recalled Due to Suffocation Hazard; Violation of Federal Crib Bumper Ban; Sold by Henan Ouchang Trading and Xinxiang Junshun Trading on AliExpress and Recalled by AliExpress
- Black & Decker Recalls CRAFTSMAN V20 Cordless Tillers/Cultivators Due to Laceration Hazard
- Medline Industries Recalls 1.5 Million Adult Portable Bed Rails Due to Serious Entrapment and Asphyxia Hazards; Two Deaths Reported
- Compare Brands Recalls ADIOS! Super Vinegar All Natural Cleaner Due to Risk of Poisoning and Chemical Burns; Violation of Labeling Requirements under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act; Sold Exclusively on Amazon.com
- TOPICN Pool Drain Covers Recalled Due to Entrapment Hazard; Violation of the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act; Sold Exclusively on Amazon.com by Sanure

- Kano Laboratories Recalls Super Lube® Products Due to Risk of Poisoning; Violation of the Poison Prevention Packaging Act
- CHZHVAN Combination Smoke and Carbon Monoxide Detectors Recalled Due to Failure to Alert to Fire; Sold Exclusively on Amazon.com by Haikouhuidishangmaoy ouxiangongsi
- Electrolux Group Reannounces Recall of Frigidaire and Kenmore Electric Ranges Due to Fire and Burn Hazards; Multiple Fires and Injuries Reported
- Children’s Nightgowns Recalled Due to Burn Hazard and Violation of Federal Flammability Standards; Sold Exclusively on Amazon.com; Imported by Zegoo Home
- Spin Swivel Chairs Recalled Due to Fall Hazard; Imported by Article

Westfield Library Officially Open

The Westfield Washington Public Library is pleased to announce the grand opening of its new state-of-the-art building on June 1. The opening festivities began with a ribbon-cutting ceremony under an arch of colorful balloons.

"This building has been meticulously planned to meet the evolving needs of Westfield's residents," Sheryl Sollars, Executive Director of the Westfield Washington Public Library, said. "We invite everyone to join us as we embark on this exciting new chapter together." The grand opening was followed by a slew of activities that kicked off the Summer Reading Program. This year’s theme is Adventures Begin at Your Library.”

The new 43,000 square foot facility, located at 17400 Westfield Boulevard, features expanded parking, a dedicated teen area, a spacious community room, and a coffee shop. Additionally, the 3.6-acre property will offer outdoor activity space for the community to enjoy. The Westfield Washington Township offices will call the west side of the building home.
