Hamilton Happenings

Noblesville First United Methodist Church is hosting a free one-time, 2-speaker event on July 12, 2024. Everyone is welcome to join in at 7 p.m. for an evening of engaging education, spiritual renewal and delicious snacks! Everything takes place in Celebration Hall, doors 2 and 7.

Three Things You Should Know

1 Hoosiers can submit their art and photos to serve as the background artwork for new durable cards for hunting, fishing, and trapping licenses for next year. From now through Aug. 2, Hoosiers are encouraged to submit up to two of their Indiana-based, nature and wildlife-themed artworks to DFWcontests@dnr.IN.gov. Four entries will be selected to be printed on licenses next year. The full list of contest guidelines is at events.IN.gov/event/DFWCardContest.

2 Boomers, get ready. The Indiana State Fair has some concerts coming sure to bring back a few memories. Among the artists on tap are Three Dog Night, Gladys Knight, The Turtles, Jay & The Americans, The Association, Badfinger ft. Joey Molland, The Vogues, The Cowsills and more. The State Fair opens this year on Aug. 2 and closes Aug. 18. Many concerts are on the Hoosier Lottery Free Stage. Go to IndianaStateFair.com for more details.

3 The Indiana Department of Environmental Management is inviting Hoosiers to give their feedback on how the state should spend federal grant money to grow Indiana's electric vehicle charging network. IDEM, in partnership with the Indiana Department of Transportation and Drive Clean Indiana, plans to apply for funding through Round 2 of the Federal Highway Administration's grant program. Hoosiers can visit GOEVIN's website, goevin.com through July 24 to learn more and complete an online survey.

SWELTERING SUMMER WEATHER

116 That's the hottest temperature ever recorded in the great Hoosier state! That came about on July 14, 1936 on the south side of Rensselaer in Colledgeville! (And by the way, the coldest temp ever recorded was a bone-chilling negative 36 that happened on Jan. 19, 1994 in New Whiteland.)

10.5

Summer rain showers hit their highest total inches downpour in the summer of 1905 in Princeton Indiana. (And on the flip side? The most snow that fell in one day was 33 inches on Dec. 23, 2004 in Salem. And just for the record, your intrepid news staff at The Times did some digging - no pun intended - and found out that Santa still got around just fine that year!)

99

We'll see you in September. Our next summer holiday is Labor Day. It happens on Sept. 2, 20 days before the end of summer. And the hottest Labor Day in Indiana history came in 1954 when the mercury hit 99! (The chilliest Labor Day was 47 degrees in 1988.)

12 That's how many days we hit 100 or higher in Indiana - and that happened in 1936. That broke the record of 10 that was set just two years earlier. The third highest, nine, was set in 2012. That year was also the last time Hoosiers saw a 100-degree day (which happened on July 7 - almost 12 years ago to the day!)

That's the normal high for Indiana's daily temperature in July. For August it ranges from 85 at the beginning for the month and only goes down 2 degrees by the end. And for September - when summer ends and fall begins - the average high starts out at 83 on the 1st and wraps up the month 10 degrees cooler at 73.

The Feeding Team: Can I be a Pantry Host?

MARK HALL
Guest Columnist

We get questions regularly, lots of questions. Neighbors ask us about pantry usage, what to donate, product expiration, how to volunteer, what can I do to help and one of my personal favorites, how do I host a pantry? Glad you asked. Hosting a pantry is not nearly as daunting as some might think. Pantry hosts vary greatly, but include businesses, schools, churches, government organizations, civic groups, unions, apartment complexes, HOAs, daycares and on and on.

First, a pantry host provides a location to house one of our no-questions-asked pantries. It costs the host nothing but some space. We locate pantries near where GAP families live or in locations that GAP families frequent.

What is a GAP family, you ask? These are our neighbors whose income is too large to qualify for public assistance, but whose income isn't large enough to ensure food security should something go bump in the night and impact their budget. These are families who are one blown engine, one large medical bill, one unexpected big expense away from not knowing where one of their next few meals is coming from.

Next, a pantry host may adopt their pantry. This means that the host either gathers food donations or picks up food supplies from the Feeding Team offices two times a month. A few times each week, the adopter sorts, cleans and stocks their pantry. It takes a few hours each month. Pantry adoption is a great opportunity for scouts, clubs, church groups, individuals, civic organizations and families to demonstrate giving back to those in need right here in Central Indiana. Watching parents and grandparents teach the importance of generational giving is one of the biggest joy's that comes from being a member of the Feeding Team.

We have pantry hosts who choose not to adopt their pantry and while that's not our preference these days, it's OK. In these situations, we recruit volunteers to step in and manage that pantry.

➔ OBITUARY

Ronald Glover

June 9, 1942 - June 28, 2024

Ronald Bartley Glover, age 82, of Athens, Alabama, formerly of Sheridan, Indiana, passed away on Friday morning, June 28, 2024, surrounded by his loving wife and family. Born June 9, 1942, in Sheridan, Indiana, he was the son of the late Edward B. Glover and Mary Francis Glover-Bienert.

Ron was a 1960 graduate of Sheridan High School. After graduation he enlisted in the United States Air Force, where he honorably served his country from January 15, 1962, to September 30, 1984, at which time he took his retirement at the rank of CMSGT. His accomplishments during his career in the Air Force were many, including his service during the Vietnam War and being awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. However, his proudest moment came when he was awarded his Purple Heart.

Ron saw retirement a little bit differently than most people. Although he did find time to get more fishing in, a life of leisure wasn't his idea of a good time. He soon found himself working as a project manager on the B2 bomber program with Northrop and as a Space Station change board chairman with Boeing. "Retirement" did give him a little more flexibility in his schedule, so along with fishing, he was also able to keep better tabs on the Atlanta Braves. A lifelong fan, he was glad to be able to see more games and not just catch the scores. He also enjoyed keeping up with hockey.

He was a proud member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), American Legion, The Military Order of the Purple Heart (MOPH), The Retired Enlisted Association (TREA), and the Air Force Association. He was also a member of the Bassmasters Fishing Club.

He took great pride in his family and loved time spent with his children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren.

Ron is survived by his loving wife of 55 years, Thoy "Toy" (Boonchoo) Glover. She and Ron were married on January 15, 1969. Also surviving are 3 sons, Chris Glover (Tina) of Sheridan, Bryan Glover of Strayhorn, Mississippi, and Scott Glover of McCordsville; daughter, Rhonda Glover-Geyer of Fort Worth, Texas; 9 grandchildren; 7 great grandchildren; and stepbrother, Steven Butcher of Indianapolis.

He is preceded in death by his parents, Edward B. Glover and Mary Francis Glover-Bienert; stepfather, Harry Bienert; 2 sisters, Marcia Sue Glover, and Connie Joan Roudebush; and brother-in-law, Ronald Roudebush.

Graveside Services with Military Honors will take place at 11:00 AM on Monday, July 8, 2024, at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan, Indiana.

Pastor Steve Hacker will be officiating.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to Riley Children's Foundation, 30 S. Meridian Street, Suite 200, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204, or online at www.give.rileykids.org

Police Looking for Road Rage Suspects

A road rage incident occurred in Boone County recently and Whitestown police are requesting your help.

Around 4:30 p.m. on July 3, police say a semi ran off Interstate 65 North after the driver was shot. According to police, a black sedan being driven by a woman with a man riding along was brake checking multiple semis and causing traffic disruptions. Police say that it culminated in the semi driver being shot. He was rushed to an Indianapolis trauma center by Whitestown Fire Department medics where his condition is stable but critical.

Police request that if the public has any information, footage or tips that would assist in the investigational process to please contact our Criminal Investigations Division at (317) 769-2677 or the Boone County Communications center at (765) 482-1412.

As a host you are vital to The Feeding Team's food delivery mission. Locating pantries where those in need can more easily access meals makes the process work.

Do you have a location that you'd like to be considered? Please reach out and let us know, we are looking for the next pantry location and the next pantry host.

As a "Take What You Need, Give What You Can" model, your donations are responsible for hundreds of meals each week. Although you may never see the recipient, know in quiet satisfaction that you are making a difference in the lives of Hoosier families right here in Central Indiana.

Feeding Team provides a way and a place for those in need to get food for their family. While each pantry really is just a big wooden yellow box, it means so much more for donors and for families in need. You are welcome to join us as together we fight to eliminate hunger in Hamilton County.

With over 40,000 food challenged neighbors in Hamilton County, www.Feedingteam.org is a registered 501C3 not for profit organization that provides outdoor-24x7x365 no - questions-asked, free food pantries throughout the county. The pantries exist, to meet the food insecurity needs of GAP families, neighbors who may not qualify for public assistance and could use a few meals before payday. The pantries serve as many food-challenged neighbors as possible, and our hearts are with those that, like my family, could not always make ends meet.

Thank you for supporting the pantries. We love serving with so many neighbors across Hamilton County. In future columns we will share more stories about how your generosity served neighbors in times of need. The face of hunger in Hamilton County is not what you may think.

In practical terms this straightforward way to help neighbors is having a real impact on lives, families, and our communities. Thank you. A few meals can change the course of a person's life. A can of green beans means so much more when you have nothing to feed your kids. Would you like to get involved?

Volunteer opportunities are available. We are evaluating new pantry locations. If you think you have a potential area location, please contact us.

www.feedingteam.org facts - 65 pantries, over 11,000 meals in May 2024, over one hundred individual and thirty volunteer families. # A Hamilton County 4th!

From the Noblesville July 4 Parade, the Noblesville Fireworks Festival and the fireworks at Cicero's 25th annual Lights Over Morse Lake, it was another wonderful Hamilton County 4th of July! The Times' Betsy Reason was out and about all day and shared these great photos!

It's Hard Asking for Help

CARRIE CLASSON
The Postscript

My dad doesn't like asking for help.

He told me this recently when he asked if I could help him put out the dock. His knee was bothering him, and the dock was pulled up on shore at a steep incline. The dock frame was rolled into the water and then the boards of the dock were laid into place. It was a good job for two people and two sets of hands, especially since my dad's knee is bothering him and he's been legally blind for a number of years.

My dad doesn't like asking for help, he told me. But lately he needs more of it than he used to. I know this embarrasses him. My dad is the kind of guy who can do a lot of things and solve a lot of problems. He built his house by himself—only getting assistance with the foundation and the roof. Everything in between, from the cabinets to the plumbing, he did himself. If I ask my dad how to solve a problem, he'll take a pause as he visualizes what will be needed. He may not get back to me for a day or two. But when he does, he's got it all worked out in his head. He must know that I have always admired him for the many things he can do and how well does them all.

But my dad turned 90 this year, and he's had some heart troubles. His eyes have been a problem for years, and now this knee is acting up. It takes a toll on him. I know he gets tired of it and worries he'll be able to do less and have to ask for more help.

"How does it feel, seeing your dad like this?" he asked me.

I didn't know how to answer, because it feels good to see my dad whenever I see him, and I am glad I can help. Usually, I don't feel I can do much to help my dad.

And I'm not sure he realizes he has been teaching me by his example all his life, and those lessons have not ended.

When I see him ask me for help—knowing it is hard for him, knowing he wishes he did not have to do it—he is teaching me another important lesson. It's a lesson I need today. It's a lesson I will need more in the years to come.

It is hard to ask for help, but it shows wisdom to ask when you need it. Asking in the way my father does makes it feel like a privilege to be helpful. I hope I can be as gracious when I need help—tomorrow, and for the rest of my life.

We put the dock together in no time. The perfectly spaced boards were easy to slide into place because my father had built them in his woodshop, taking care they would not fit too tightly or have too much space between them. It felt good to stand on the newly assembled dock, ready for another summer of listening to loons, and keeping track of who is on their pontoon boat and watching the summer sun go down late at night, so far north.

I wish I'd had a better answer on the tip of my tongue when he asked me how it felt to see him asking for help. I wanted to say it made me admire him more. It made me hopeful that someday I might be as patient and dignified as my dad.

*Till next time,
Carrie*

Wolfsie Plays Chicken

DICK WOLFSIE
Funny Bone

Several years ago, The American Dairy Association ran a contest to find a recipe for the best grilled cheese sandwich. I was very unhappy about the entire cheesy affair. I feel that when you try to make a better grilled cheese sandwich, it's no longer really a grilled cheese. Instead, it's a cheese sandwich with artichokes. Or it's a cheese sandwich that's grilled with honey-maple bread. Or peanut butter. The ingredients for a grilled cheese sandwich are simple:

American cheese, white bread, and butter.

Now, I have an issue with chicken salad?

Wherever you go, you think you know what to expect when you see this on the menu.

Chicken Salad: $12.95

Don't fall for it. This is no paltry sham. It is a poultry swindle of gourmand proportions.

When I see the words chicken salad, I have a childhood vision: small bite-size pieces of pulled roasted chicken deliciously mixed in with real mayonnaise and succulent junks of celery to make the dish crunchy. That's it. Maybe a little salt and pepper. That's chicken salad.

So, what is chicken salad on most restaurant menus? It's slices of tough chicken lowered onto a plateful of soggy lettuce or spinach. That is not chicken salad. Allow me to say it again: THAT IS NOT CHICKEN SALAD.

I always have to explain this to a waitress who doesn't quite get it. Mainly because the restaurant doesn't serve real chicken salad.

"May I help you, sir?"

"Yes, do you have chicken salad?"

"Of course. What kind of dressing would you like on that?"

There's the first clue that we're not speaking the same language. You don't put goop on real chicken salad. It's already got mayonnaise. You can slather blue cheese dressing on slices of chicken that have been plopped onto a garden of green things. But never violate real chicken salad.

"Miss, I don't want chicken SALAD. I want CHICKEN salad."

"Huh?"

"Look, how would you make egg salad?"

"I'd hard boil eggs, cut them up and then smooch them up with mayonnaise."

"Great. Tell the chef to do that same thing—only with chicken."

She was still confused...

"Suppose I ordered egg salad. Would you give me a big plate of lettuce with a hard-boiled egg in the middle of it?"

Her eyes lit up. It was finally sinking in.

I will admit that making the perfect chicken salad requires a certain deft touch to successfully combine these simple ingredients: chicken, mayo, and celery.

If you are reading this and own a restaurant, I hope you appreciate the free advice. I have always believed that staying on top of things is important.

Unless you are a slab of chicken.

Master Gardeners Award 7 Scholarships

The Hamilton County Master Gardener Program, sponsored by Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service, is a volunteer training program whose purpose is to educate the community in the art, science and joys of gardening and horticulture related topics.

In keeping with this purpose, the Hamilton County Master Gardener Association awards Barney Hobbs Memorial Horticultural Scholarships each year. Barney Hobbs was a founding member of the Hamilton County Master Gardeners Association who possessed a strong volunteer spirit. Annual scholarships in the amount of $3000 each ($1500 per semester) pay tribute to Mr. Hobbs and his many horticultural accomplishments.

This year's recipients are:

- Noah Brooks, a 2024 graduate of Fishers High School who will attend Purdue University this fall and is the son of Nathan and Kathryn Brooks;
- Meredith Dodson attends Purdue University and is the daughter of Jeanann and Michael Dodson;

- Alexandra Ely graduated from Fishers High School in 2024, will be attending Colorado State University this fall, and is the daughter of Anne Ely;
- Lauren Harmon attends Purdue University and is the daughter of Stacey Harmon;
- Connor Reiff has attended Ivy Tech Community College, will attend Purdue University this fall, and is the son of Adam and Saah Reiff;
- Madeline Rockey attends Purdue University and is the daughter of Brian Rockey;
- Abigail Krent, the daughter of Adam and Janene Krent, has graduated from Western Kentucky University and will be starting her graduate degree at Michigan State University this fall.

Applications, along with an essay, teacher recommendations, grade transcripts and proof of college acceptance, are due in the Extension office by March 15 each year. The applications are available at all Hamilton County high schools, at www.hcmga.org and at the Hamilton County Extension Office, 2003 E. Pleasant St., Noblesville.

2024 Lincoln Nautilus Reserves the Right to Be Stylish and Sophisticated. It Can Also Drive Itself

CASEY WILLIAMS
Auto Reviews

Lincoln has long represented advanced American luxury. It pioneered aerodynamic styling with the 1936 Zephyr and the personal luxury car with the original 1940 Continental. The uber expensive 1956 Continental Mark II spoiled celebrities. Perhaps no car had as much influence on the brand as the 1961 Continental that eschewed tailfins for sleek slab sides and sharp fenders while rocketing luxury into an exciting new age – just as the 2024 Lincoln Nautilus Reserve does today.

It's not just another luxury crossover; it's a Lincoln. The big bold grille with intricate detail leads the way, flanked by adaptive LED headlamps and light bar that stretches across with an illuminated Lincoln star hung between. Doorhandles are neatly blended into the window trim as in the last Continental. Our Reserve package's black roof and 21" dark alloy wheels add allure. Thin taillamps with LINCOLN spelled across the hatch lend sophistication. Touch in entry code on the pillar and go inside.

Ray Charles would not miss the infotainment screen that wraps pillar to pillar with a 11.1" touchscreen beneath. The portion in front of drivers displays a digital speedometer, safety system status (lane keep assist, adaptive cruise), and navigation. The right side can be configured by drivers. I selected media and trip computer. A "squircle" steering wheel is like a set of comfortable handlebars, but provides clear vision of the display. I know it sounds complicated, but is much more intuitive than the German luxury cars I've driven recently.

It's also saturated with luxury. Soft leather seats, inspired by the classic Eames lounge chair, are 24-way adjustable and come heated/ventilated up front, heated in the rear. A heated steering wheel and Panoramic Vista Roof add pleasures. Choose between four scents that range from summer field to evening embers. Crank up the 28-speaker Revel audio system for a real delight. Safety is enhanced by automatic emergency braking, blind spot warning, lane keep assist, and rear cross path detection systems.

Adding to the technological onslaught is a hybrid powertrain that encompasses a 2.0-liter four-cylinder engine and all-wheel-drive – good for a combined 310 horsepower and 30/31-MPG city/highway. That's not an overwhelming amount of power, but is plenty for a mid-size crossover and few will complain about the fuel economy. It feels smooth and torquey no matter the road. An adaptive suspension system controls untoward behavior, but maintains a wafting float over long highways and broken city pavement in the Lincoln tradition.

On a two-hour highway drive for my nephew's high school graduation party, I was driving the Nautilus, clicking through songs with Apple CarPlay, and watching the displays while enjoying the adaptive cruise control. Then, I noticed an icon on the left display change from hands on a steering wheel to hands off, indicating Ford's BlueCruise system had activated, allowing me relax my arms and enjoy a soda while a sensor on the steering column watched me watching the road. Innovations seemingly never cease.

Lincoln pioneered FM radio, 8-track cassettes, and CD players. That's child's play compared to the swath of screens, wirelessly connected audio system, and hands-off cruising.

If you think of Lincoln as old, you clearly have not driven the segment-altering Nautilus Reserve. While the Nautilus starts at a reasonable $50,415, our Reserve with all the technology came to a more luxurious $69,845, putting it against the Cadillac XT5, Mercedes-Benz GLE, BMW X5, Acura MDX, and Lexus RX.
