More cone zone news! The ongoing project at 146th and Allisonville is undergoing another traffic phase shift. Eastbound 146th Street traffic will be shifted to the south and will utilize the bridge carrying eastbound 146th Street over the White River. The contractor will place construction barrels to delineate the driving area from the construction zone. Be safe everyone!

Three Things You Should Know

- Our Indianapolis Colts were ranked as the third-worst-behaved team in the NFL, according to our friends at SlotsUp, a platform that helps users make informed betting decisions. They looked at each team's total number of violations committed and their total fine sum, the study calculated an average fine total, which was then used to determine the final ranking. Baltimore ranked first and Cincinnati second. For the Colts, they had an average fine total of $14,692 last season. The team committed eight violations, resulting in a fine total of $117,534. 'Unnecessary roughness' is the Indianapolis Colts' most recurring offense category, accounting for six of the team's violations. E.J. Speed is identified as the team's worst-behaved player, racking up two violations.
- A new study from our friends at Simplify LLC has ranked Indiana as the 30th-best state for entrepreneurs in 2025, marking a fall of 20 spots compared to last year's rankings. Simplify LLC released its annual study on the Best & Worst States for Entrepreneurs in 2025 using the most recent data from the Census Bureau, Bureau of Economic Analysis, Tax Foundation and the U.S. Senate. The rankings were determined by analyzing six key categories in all 50 states and D.C.: corporate tax rate, inflation, consumer spending growth, job creation rate, and net migration of educated workers.
- Applications are now being accepted for 2025-26 educational scholarships from Indiana Donor Network Foundation. Indiana Donor Network is the federally designated organ recovery organization that coordinates organ, tissue and cornea donation in Indiana and transplantation throughout the U.S. Applications for 2025-26 scholarships must be received online by midnight March 17. Interested candidates can apply at https://www.indiana donornetwork.org/scholarships. Eligible recipients will be chosen and notified in May. In the past five years, Indiana Donor Network Foundation has awarded $114,000 in scholarships.

The Mysterious Mr. Myers

PAULA DUNN From Time to Thyme I ran across another story in the old newspapers that was just too weird not to share.

The Feb. 22, 1881 Noblesville Ledger includes a rather lengthy article about the mysterious disappearance of a Kokomo tailor, John F. Myers.

Three weeks earlier Myers, a collector of rare zoological specimens and precious stones, had told his wife he intended to sell his collections in order to get money to buy them a home. He then left for Cincinnati and Washington (DC,) presumably to do just that.

Nothing had been heard from him since his departure and Mrs. Myers was understandably upset.

The situation made news in Noblesville because Myers was well known here. In 1878 he'd been hired by local businessman Ezra Swain to oversee a new tailoring department in Swain's dry goods store.

By all accounts Myers was excellent at his job, being "possessed of sufficient judgment in the science of cutting to make exact 'fits.'

However, the man was also, apparently, a world-class liar who thought nothing of spinning tales that often "needed verification at other hands."

Among the examples the article provided . . .

Myers loved to show off his "precious stones," and frequently entertained people with colorful stories of the gems' former owners and accounts of how he acquired each jewel. (The Ledger determined that the only real diamond he owned was in a pin purchased from a Noblesville jeweler.)

Although Myers professed to be fluent in six or seven languages, when he was addressed by a genuine Frenchman, the Ledger noted that he was "found wanting."

At times Myers also claimed to be an English nobleman and a French count ("no account, probably,") and said he owned a chateau near Paris, a farm in New York State, houses and lots in London and Edinburgh and a "magnificent" Pennsylvania farm. (That led the newspaper to question why he was working here as a tailor.)

Noblesville for Wisconsin, taking with him one of Swain's seamstresses and the two were married there.
Presumably, she was the
Mrs. Myers he left behind in Kokomo. (Why they went to Wisconsin, then moved to Kokomo is just one of the mysteries I couldn't solve.)

Although Myers was said to be "sullen and morose" at times, he could also be a cheerful, fun-loving jokester. (Was he bipolar?)

His tendency for exaggeration aside, he did possess some good qualities, the most outstanding of which was his charity. Whenever he heard about someone undergoing hardship, he'd track them down and see to it that they had money or whatever they needed.

One deed, however, undermined that reputation.

Upon learning that a woman was struggling to care for her young daughter, Myers offered to adopt the child. He took good care of the girl and when he left for Wisconsin, she went with him.

He never got around to filing the adoption paperwork, however, and after a few months, he tired of the child and sent her back to her mother. The girl, whom I believe was less than 10 years-old, had to make the trip from Chicago alone!

I tried to find more information about Myers, but I have more questions now than I did before. About the only thing I learned was that he'd probably originally come from northern Germany. I have no idea how or where he became acquainted with Swain.

What happened to him after he left Kokomo is a mystery, but the Feb. 23, 1881 Noblesville Republican noted that one of Noblesville's prominent citizens claimed to have spotted him a couple of weeks earlier in Vincennes on a train headed to St. Louis.

I tend to agree with the Ledger that it was "more than probable that Mrs. Myers will never behold her undoubted adventurer again."

She may have been better off that way.

Pleasant Street Changes Ongoing

Although local drivers are used to the changing conditions on Pleasant Street, another change is happening people need to be aware of.

Pleasant Street is now closed between 13th and 16th streets. The closure is required to reconstruct and widen Pleasant Street to four lanes. It also includes reconstruction of the bridge over Wilson Drain. When complete, these roadway improvements will reduce the potential for roadway flooding and allow Pleasant Street to be maintained as an emergency route.

In addition, there will be temporary closures of 19th Street and Pleasant Street in the coming weeks.

Indiana American Water will be relocating water lines near the intersection of 19th and Pleasant. The closures will not be concurrent. The 19th Street closure is wrapping up and is during work hours only. The street has been reopening each evening.

But Pleasant Street will be closed beginning next week and will not reopen until work is fully complete.

Finally, as reported in The Times earlier, historical signage celebrating the history of the Plum Prairie neighborhood and Reverend Barney Stone was recently installed as part of the Reimagine Pleasant Street project.

Westfield Launches Neighborhood Grant Program

Westfield is launching a Neighborhood Vibrancy
Grant program that opens the doors to funding and innovative ideas to make the community a more vibrant place to live, and will positively impact the quality of life throughout the city.

"Our community has seen the development of numerous new neighborhoods in recent years, yet we also acknowledge the presence of several aging areas," Westfield Mayor Scott Willis said. "We hope these grant funds will assist in rejuvenating neighborhood entrances and shared spaces."

True Confessions from a Not-So-Perfect Human

good for the soul, then this journal writing ought to clear the slate. A BUNNIE few weeks back in Learning the my Bible study class, someone posed the question of how often we pray each day. I initially wasn't going to speak up, but when called upon, I confessed I pray about a dozen times a day. I quickly explained, almost apologetically, that I am a widow who works from home, which enables me to stop and pause frequently throughout the day to pray. Although not discussed then, prayers can be fervent and tearful, at least once per day. Being alone affords me this gift, this luxury, this desire to communicate with God.

If confession is

Difficult to recall if it was about that time or before, but lately, I seem to remember to pray after I start to eat a meal about a third of the time. This is very frustrating. I've prayed about it. I've asked for forgiveness. I've asked God for help. I tried to figure out clever ways to remember to do this 100% of the time, all to no avail.

I love to pray and I do not understand where this block is coming from. I am ashamed to admit this. I know I am not perfect. However, as we walk closer to Christ, I believe we are to become more like Christ, not less. One of my favorite Bible passages is 1 Thessalonians 5:17 which tells us to "Pray without ceasing." I am at wits end about how to correct this acquired behavioral pattern. It is a shameful act in direct disobedience to

I recently read that when there is an act of omission, we need to perform acts of commission to correct the behavior. This would lead me to believe that I would have to pray even more, but the frequency of prayer isn't the issue, I don't believe. It's the lack of prayer before I eat. The timing.

Refusing to eat is not the answer, as this would be an act of omission. (Although weighing less would not be a bad deal, probably not very realistic.) Perhaps I need to perform a ritual as a reminder to pray before I start to eat. This is both troubling and confounding. I was loathing myself this afternoon just thinking about how I failed to be a good Ambassador for Christ. More tears and another apology in my prayers as I drove home.

Words of selfencouragement seem so insufficient, seemingly as an unjustifiable excuse. So I tell myself anyway ... just keep thinking, keep trying!

 (my entry was to end here, but now, a required addendum) ***

Just now comes the weekly Reflection from Kimi at Community of Faith (church in Florida) who writes, "...We've already been given our mission to be ambassadors for Jesus. Now that we know it, we need to accept it and own it. "None of us will be perfect but part of representing the values of Jesus means giving ourselves grace when we get it wrong. As long as we never stop trying, we will be taking daily steps to fulfill our mission."

What a profoundly forgiving and accepting statement! Jesus, thank you for Kimi and Your extremely timely message! God always knows what we need and when we need it. His timing is always perfect and He clearly speaks!

"And after the earthquake there was a fire, but the Lord was not in the fire. And after the fire there was the sound of a gentle whisper." (1 Kings 19:12 NLT)

Just as impactful from the article's introduction, the pastor wrote in his introductory email, "I encourage you to prayerfully listen to the Spirit of God as you read Kimi's words."

How did he know? How many others will this article impact, comfort, reveal, enlighten?

"Then he said to me, "This is the word of the Lord to Zerubbabel: Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord of hosts." (Zechariah 4:6).

Jesus, once again, we hear You. "My sheep listen to my voice; I know them, and they follow me." (John 10:27)

There is no greater love, no mercy more tender than the gracious healing love of God. Your communication is unbelievably amazing! Lord, I praise you again with tearful and thankful humility. Amen.

Revisiting Hate, DEI and Other Rip-Roaring (wink-wink) Topics

hate, and boy did last week's comments about DEI / MEI bring them out of the woodwork!

To recap, I offered a tip of the seed corn cap (as my pal Honest Hoosier might say) to new Indiana Gov. Mike Braun for replacing the Diversity-Equity-Inclusion push with MEI - Merit-Excellence-Innovation.

The big pushback was that Braun opened the floodgates to discrimination and that his new MEI initiative set back the Hoosier State by decades.

One of the points I made and most of the haters seemed to miss - is that we already have laws, policies and procedures in place that make discriminating against anyone for reasons of race, sex, religion illegal.

The other big point they missed is that you can't legislate stupid. And that seems to be a huge roadblock for so many things the left says. They want the world to be perfect - and good for them - but it's never going to be. That's not pessimistic, just realistic. So we do the best we can with what we have and we keep moving forward.

Haters and others who simply want to stomp their feet and scream like 2-year-olds throwing a tantrum aren't contributing. Not my place to tell them how to live, but if they really want to effect change, maybe a civil conversation wouldn't hurt?

SADLY, IT'S time for the annual fight over daylight savings time. I just don't get how this is such a big deal and especially how the economic development folks wring their hands over this stuff.

C'mon, we live in a pretty complex world today. The Internet has connected us across time zones, oceans and continents. Do people believe we really can't figure out a 60-minute difference?

ALSO ON the sad note category, our friends at the Indiana Legislature are once again trying to take public notices away from your friendly neighborhood newspapers. The hired hands cite declining circulation, costs and, amazingly, ease of Here're some facts.

First, no arguments on declining print subscriptions. That's nothing new - and again, our friends in Indianapolis have pounded on this fact for years. But what they fail to mention is the exploding digital side of newspapers. For example, here in Noblesville we have almost five times as many digital subscribers as we do print. Add to that the reach of our website and it's pretty astounding.

· Costs? I say this with all due respect, but when's the last time our government at almost any level did something better and cheaper than the private sector? This is another good example. The state wants to create a website for public notices. That means they'll have to pay someone to do that and they'll have to pay for the online platform.

Why do that when the Hoosier State Press Association already does it - at no additional cost at www.publicnotice indiana.com?

Plus, and I've made this point for years - public notice ads cost less than 1 percent of government budgets. Way less!

- Ease of access? OK, I get the concept that having one website means you just have to click one time. But what happens when you get there? It'd be like looking for a needle in a haystack of needles. Public notices being published on our pages means you may have to turn five or six pages, but it's nothing like a gazillion megabytes of data to sift through.
- Last point and again, something said in this space many times. Imagine you have a teenage daughter who asks if her boyfriend can come to the house to study. Then imagine if she says they're going to study in her room instead of the dining room table. Then imagine they close the door. Suddenly a healthy situation goes from warm and fuzzy to downright alarming.

It's all about transparency and trust. And the more transparent things are, the easier it is to trust. If the government is allowed to manage their own public notice ads with no independent third party like a newspaper, how warm and fuzzy does that feel?

LEST YOU think all I do is gripe about our good folks in Indianapolis, here's a tip of the seed corn cap to Indiana Secretary of State Diego Morales. He has his enemies, but I like the fact that he's not just sitting behind a desk in Indianapolis. He's out and about and visiting Indiana counties and talking to common folks like you and I.

Haters got to hate, but I appreciate his efforts!

THIS IS American Heart Month and as a guy with a pretty good sized horizontal scar on his chest, please take it from me that heart health is nothing to sluff off. I won't cram this down your throats, but thanks to my friends at the American Heart Association, here are some good tips worth knowing.

- Take an online CPR course
- Learn and practice with a CPR Anytime Kit
- Watch a 60-second video to learn Hands-Only CPR
- Find a Heartsaver™ certification course near you

By the way, the first Friday in February is Wear Red Day in honor of the month. Hope you join me in painting the town, or at least our attire that day, red!

EDDIE ADAMS was a photographer for The Associated Press after serving with the United States Marine Corps in Korea. You may not know his name, but if you are of a certain age (and by reading these scribbles chances are you are), you'll likely remember the photo in 1968 of a South Vietnamese soldier shooting a Viet Cong captain in the side of the head on a Saigon street. Adams won the Pulitzer Prize in 1969 for that

More than anything though, it is a stark statement on the difference between the world we grew up in and the one we live in today. We saw images of war on our TV sets every night and no one warned us beforehand that this might be disturbing.

That's not a slam on anyone today. But the world is cold and cruel in many places and ignoring, hiding or downplaying it doesn't do anyone any good.

Last month, the Noblesville, Westfield and Carmel Lions Clubs assisted Gleaner's Mobile pantry by passing out food for 158 families. Those Lions helping from Noblesville were: John Einsfeld, Steve Shaw, Ron Williamson, Bruce Moss, Linda Williamson, Jeanne Auffrey, Skylar Heron, Mark Bachar, Jim Foote, Jeff Kozicki, Ron Sinicki, Joe Connerley and Jerry Baker. From Westfield: Jack Waldroup, Carrie Larrison, Don Collins, Jeff Larrison and Bill Nesbitt. And from Carmel: Matt Best, Lane Simms, Bill Ryan, Bob Yunker and two others unidentified.

Heights Perks Up with January Winners

Hamilton Heights High School would like to recognize the following students who were honored with Coffee Bean Awards for January. They are Michael Cain, LiLiana Cook, Hannah England, Braeden Flaherty, Lukas Jackson and Bella McDole.

The name and award, inspired by The Coffee Bean, a book written by Jon Gordon and Damon West, delivers a simple, yet powerful message on positive change. All students nominated receive a certificate of recognition. At the end of the month, the names of the students who were nominated during the month are included in a drawing where the first five-toseven names drawn are called down to the office to enjoy a hot chocolate or coffee and a donut.

West, a best-selling author and internationally renowned keynote speaker, will be the guest speaker at Hamilton Heights Middle and High Schools later this month to share his message of the incredible power within each person to positively change their lives.

The monthly award objective is to encourage more acts of kindness, positivity, school spirit, and help foster a closer sense of community within the high school. Students and staff can nominate students.

The NVG program offers a 2-to-1 matching grant, providing up to $10,000 per project. Funding will be awarded two times per calendar year, with applications accepted on a rolling basis. Homeowners' associations and neighborhood groups within Westfield city limits are encouraged to apply.

The NVG program is designed to fund projects that offer visible community improvements and significant neighborhood benefits. Potential projects range from environmental and landscape enhancements to recreation and neighborhood amenities. For example, neighborhoods can apply for grants to transform high-maintenance lawns into lush native plant areas, create butterfly and wildlife habitat corridors, or install rain gardens. Community garden projects and tree mitigation efforts are also encouraged.

On the recreation side, communities may seek funding for trail repairs, park improvements such as benches and shelters, or installing solar lighting to brighten public spaces. Projects that improve neighborhood connectivity or enhance alternative transportation infrastructure are also eligible for support.

Applicants interested in participating must meet a few key requirements, including a completed application, detailed information about the project, and its budget and anticipated timeline. The NVG committee will evaluate applications by considering factors such as the neighborhood's age, the sustainability and innovation of the proposed project, and its overall visibility and potential impact. Recommendations will be forwarded to the Board of Public Works for final approval.

For the first round, applications will be accepted through March 1, with awards announced on April 1. If funds remain, the second round of applications will run from May 1 to July 1, with awards announced on August 1. Full details can be found at westfieldin.gov/ neighborhoodgrant.
